CONSTRUCTION OF NEW FIRST STREET ROAD BEGUN

STEAM SHOVEL AND TEAMS AT WORK ON NEW FIRST STREET BOULEVARD

The First street boulevard project is at last under way. Yesterday the Powers Brothers Construction Co. put two crews of men at work excavating in the banks on the street side of the oval. Two large steam shovels, 10 double teams of other equipment necessary for the work were hauled to the site and placed in readiness for the actual work, which started today. In the far corner of the field temporary stables, shacks and tents for the engineers and watchmen have been set up, while a supply station has been established in another section of the field. One big shovel was set up near the bank which runs parallel to First street and after it had been at work for about two hours a large gun had been torn in the side of the bank. The dirt was loaded into waiting teams and carted to the river side where it was dumped down the banking as part of the filling necessary to bring the bank to the level of the rest of the land. The other shovel was placed near the river and was busy in hoisting large stones from the level section and swinging them over the edge of the bank to a place where they might act as a foundation for the fill that will be put on top of them.

On the lower end of First street a crew of men is engaged in laying drain pipes and preparing to pave the street. Yesterday about 50 men were at work, but this morning about twice that number reported and, although they were not put to work at once, owing to engine trouble with one of the shovels, it was expected they would be at work some time during the day.

An attempt will be made to complete the work in about four months.

Engineers from the state department of public works will have direct charge and will supervise the work.

It is estimated that the total cost of the road will be in the neighborhood of $100,000. Of this amount the city of Lowell will contribute $70,000, the county $15,000 and the state the remainder. In addition, the state will keep it in repair.

FIND MAN'S HEART
ON THE RIGHT SIDE

BROCKTON, July 27.—An autopsy on the body of Edwin E. Snow, who died despite two blood transfusions, revealed that the man's heart was on the right side, physicians reported today. Right side organs were found on the left side and left side organs on the right. Death resulted from intestinal trouble.

BARN FIRE

The alarm from box 37 shortly after 9:30 o'clock this morning was for a fire in the old Ben Brown barn, and Smith street, between Branch and Westford streets. There was considerable smoke, but chemical streams soon had it under control.

Herbert C. White, Prominent Lowell Coal Man for Many Years, Reviews Mine Situation and Outlook for Adequate Anthracite Supply This Winter.

Herbert C. White, for a number of years at the head of the Livingston Coal Co. and recognized as one of the leading authorities in his part of the state on fuel questions, had some interesting facts to give out from his Chelmsford home today on the fuel situation, which will be of interest to every person in Lowell. Mr. White has retired from the local coal business, but at the present time is the New England representative of the Coal Trade Journal, a publication which keeps its facts and figures right up to the minute.

While Mr. White said he was averse to giving an opinion about the probability of a settlement of the coal strike, he did advance some figures and information compiled at New York yesterday on facts which recently received from the coal fields.

Reported to Textile Strikers Today
That Boys and Girls of High School
Are Working at Massachusetts

At a meeting of the strategy board held at headquarters this morning, it was reported that high school students, both boys and girls are being employed as strikebreakers at the Massachusetts mills. It was announced that during the past few days a number of boys and girls have been seen at work in the cloth room of the plant and it was the sense of the strategy board that an earnest effort should be made to prevent students from interfering in the strikers' fight for a living wage.

A resolution denouncing high school students as strikebreakers was passed at the joint meeting of the Lawrence Textile council and the Central Labor union in Lawrence Tuesday night of this week and the decision was reaffirmed yesterday morning by the strategy board of the United Textile Workers in that city.

Copies of the resolution have been sent to Principal James D. Horne of the Lawrence high school and Superintendent of Schools Bernard M. Shantz, the school committee and to the city government.

The letter resulted from a conference the mayor held with the controller and audit commission late yesterday afternoon. The mayor does not say in his communication that too many men are being employed, but intimates that fact by asking for an explanation and reply.

PRAISE FOR PLUCKY MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS

LONDON: July 27.—"Mountainering proper is not necessarily recklessness, but is entirely a question of prudence and of courage, of strength and steadiness, and of a feeling for nature and her most hidden beauties, which are often awe-inspiring, but for that reason the more sublime, and to a contemplative spirit the more suggestive."

Sir Francis Younghusband, speaking before the Royal Geographical Society on the Mount Everest expedition, used the foregoing words to express the sentiment which has animated all those connected with the expedition, and then said they were written 33 years ago by a certain Father Ruth, who has now become Pope Pius XI.

After describing what the expedition had accomplished Sir Francis said: "The experience this year shows that skilled mountaineers are able to take those unskilled in high mountain craft to the highest altitudes. Geoffrey Bruce had never climbed snow and ice mountain before. Yet under Finch's skilled leadership he was able to attain a height of 27,300 feet. And the Sherpa porters, though they were practically untrained to snow and ice work, were able, under General Bruce's stimulating influence, to carry loads up to 26,500 feet, some of them making the journey four times and so earning the unstinted praise of the best mountaineers."

"By careful organization and combination of effort, using experience to guide inexperience, and by the display of indomitable pluck on the part of the highest climbers, the expedition has at a bound brought the record up from 24,600 feet to 27,300 feet and thus left only 1700 feet to be climbed before the crowning summit is reached."

"The standard of human achievement has thereby been sensibly raised. And many another traveler, and many another straggler upward, in every walk of life and in every country will be braced and heartened in remembering what Finch and Mallory, Somervell, Norton and Bruce, have this year accomplished on Mount Everest. And this, to my mind, is incomparably the most valuable result of the expedition, and a result which makes their efforts in the highest degree worth while."

"HAMMER KILLING"

200 SAVED FROM DEATH

Cloud of Poison Gas Causes Panic Among Groton Paper Mill Workers

Owe Lives to Heroism of Ira Waite Who Shut Off Flow at Risk of Life

GROTON, July 27.—Two hundred panic-stricken paper mill workers, including several women, were saved from death in a cloud of chlorine gas yesterday when Ira Waite, of West Groton, an employee of the Hollingsworth & Ross Paper mill succeeded in shutting off the deadly flow from a broken pipe line just as he collapsed, unconscious.

Waite, in turn, was saved by three other men who went to his rescue, though they too were staggering from the fumes. The trio succeeded in dragging Waite to safety, although all four were sent to a hospital. Dozens of other employees suffered slightly from the fumes and had to go to their homes to recuperate.

Thirty thousand pounds of the deadly liquid, which vaporizes and sends out a death-dealing cloud of fume as it touches the air, were in a tank car ready to be shipped when the pipe line through which it was being pumped burst. The tank storage car was stopped by a freight-switching engine which collided with it. The crew of the freight did not notice the accident and the first known of it was when Waite, seeing the yellow gas arising from about the car, sounded an alarm and fled for his gas mask.

Panic in Shop

A half minute later there was panic in the factory as the deadly fumes, heavier than air, rolled along the floor and workmen, after workman dropped. Waite had secured his mask and donning it as he ran, he raced for the pipe line and flung himself underneath it.

Inside the factory there was panic. Arthur L. Bates, foreman of the yard, shouted to his assistants to warn every employee, and they began pouring from the exits. Most of them were choking as they fled into the air and fled for his gas mask.

Prevented Wholesale Panic

That there was not more of a panic inside the big mill, as the gas began to seep through, and the employee to choke and gasp, was due to the coolness of the men who were the most affected by the fumes. They bravely stuck to their respective rooms, ordering their subordinates to leave by the nearest exit and guiding them away from the cloud of gas that was seeping through doors and windows, even after they were hastily closed.

Physicians at the hospital tonight said that most of those injured will probably recover, although Waite and Bates and two others were given severe gassing during the affair.

Dr. Stamas is the physician in charge of the Greek clinic on Saturday morning, Dr. Sherman is in charge of the one held Friday afternoon, and Dr. Tabor is in charge all day Tuesday and Thursday and Saturday morning.

The Guild also conducts an infantile paralysis clinic in its rooms every Wednesday morning. A doctor and nurse, who are skilled in the treatment of this disease are on duty and give their services.

A report of every call is kept at the office and filed and from time to time the nurse makes calls to see that recovery is progressing. During the summer months free milk is distributed to the needy families for the young children. At the clinic the mothers are instructed in the methods of prevention to be used in warding off the ailments that the "heat" causes in the warm weather.

The guild has recently acquired an automobile for the nurses. And as a result of being able to cover so much more territory, they have taken to the outlying districts of North and South Chelmsford, Chelmsford Centre, Brookside, Dracut and Methuen under their supervision.

Many people think that the work done by the guild is carried on entirely among the foreign population of the city but this is not the case.

The calls and treatments given to the people who come under the term "American" form more than one-third of the total number. During the month, the nurses made 1241 calls to homes for cases, and 1188 home visits to babies.

The unemployment and scarcity of money in Lowell has greatly increased the amount of work done by the guild.

Due to these conditions there are many more people than usual who are unable to pay doctor bills and they come to the guild for assistance and treatment.

The guild is also treating an increased number of infantile cases, due in many cases to under nourishment and conditions brought about by lack of money.

The guild asks the assistance of the people of Lowell in restocking the "Good Cheer Chest" which is nearly empty. In this closet the nurses keep preserves, canned vegetables, and food-stuffs of the sort that bring joy to those who are not fortunate as to be able to have such things for themselves.

As the canning and preserving season has begun and will continue for some time, the guild sends out an appeal to the people to remember the work they are doing and help them to help. "A response to such an appeal will bring satisfaction to the donors of such things in the realization that they are doing a mito in keeping the golden rule."

The guild would also appreciate it

greatly if there are any automobile

owners who could donate their cars on certain days of the week to carry children to the Boston Children's hospital for treatment. The mothers of the children have great difficulty in bringing them there as they are unfamiliar with the city.

VARDAMAN IN BITTER REPLY TO WILSON

JACKSON, Miss., July 27.—Aroused by criticism of his candidacy for the United States Senate contained in a letter of former President Wilson, former Senator James K. Vardaman issued a 100 word statement today in which he said he did not believe Mississippians need to be told by Mr. Wilson for whom they shall vote.

Mr. Vardaman said Mr. Wilson's opposition is founded upon the fact that "I performed my duties as senator with the intention of pleasing and serving the white people of Mississippi, and not to please or flatter the occupant of the White House."

the gas continued to flow. Bates was overcome and he was rushed to a hospital.

The conductor and brakeman of the freight, who had come back to investigate the cause of the excitement were also affected. And, then, before Waite could complete his task the list of those seriously affected grew.

Edward Cleary, a beaterman, succeeded, and Joseph Cleary, assistant foreman, Joseph T. Brennan, Daniel Ludden, master mechanic, Joseph Winkle and D. M. Hardy, were among the others that were most seriously affected.

Practically all of these men collapsed entirely and the worst affected among them were rushed to the hospital by Dr. A. G. Kilbourn here.

Waite, in turn, was saved by three other men who went to his rescue, though they too were staggering from the fumes. The trio succeeded in dragging Waite to safety, although all four were sent to a hospital. Dozens of other employees suffered slightly from the fumes and had to go to their homes to recuperate.

Connected with the Guild is a baby hygiene clinic, with nurses and doctors on hand to prescribe for and alleviate all infantile diseases. The Lowell Guild is partly self-supporting, as a small sum is charged for the services of the nurses in the district nursing cases, when the patients are able to pay, and there is also a membership fee of one dollar for all those mothers who wish to join the Guild.

The Guild cares for the cases of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and is paid for its services by this company. This work is given to the holders of industrial policies by the company free of charge. Voluntary subscriptions are received from people at various times and this increases the finances and allows a broader field in which to work.

In many cases the work done by the Guild is given free of charge, as the nurses come in contact with every condition in their duty throughout the city. The fact that a person is unable to pay has no effect as the nurses are there to serve the people. That is the policy on which the Guild is founded. At present there are nine nurses on the staff and three doctors. The Guild conducts five baby hygiene clinics in different parts of the city for the instruction of mothers in the care of their children and the treatment of cases of disease. Tuesday and Friday this clinic is held at the Guild rooms, on Thursday morning at the Eliot school on Saturday morning at the Greenhalge school, and on Saturday morning at the Greek church. There is a doctor and a nurse in attendance at all these clinics. The doctor examines the children and prescribes formulas for the mothers, of preparations which will cure the sickness. On the following day a nurse calls at the home and instructs the mother in the preparation and application of these

LOWELL GUILD DOING SPLENDID WORK AMONG CHILDREN

Complete Organization of Nurses Brings Valuable Health Hints Into Scores of Homes That Make for Great Conservation of Child Life

A worth-while work, being developed yearly along lines that reap rich dividends in the conservation of child life, particularly among infants, is being carried on unostentatiously but most effectively by the Lowell Guild, at its headquarters, 17 Dalton street.

Many people know of the Guild and scores contribute annually to its maintenance, yet its real worth to the community sometimes is lost sight of in the daily routine of city life. It is under the supervision and direction of Miss Mac C. McNeil and her assistant, Miss Blanche C. Harriman, with the help of staff of nurses.

The Guild also conducts an infantile paralysis clinic in its rooms every Wednesday morning. A doctor and nurse, who are skilled in the treatment of this disease are on duty and give their services.

During the summer months free milk is distributed to the needy families for the young children. At the clinic the mothers are instructed in the methods of prevention to be used in warding off the ailments that the "heat" causes in the warm weather.

The guild has recently acquired an automobile for the nurses. And as a result of being able to cover so much more territory, they have taken to the outlying districts of North and South Chelmsford, Chelmsford Centre, Brookside, Dracut and Methuen under their supervision.

Many people think that the work done by the guild is carried on entirely among the foreign population of the city but this is not the case.

The calls and treatments given to the people who come under the term "American" form more than one-third of the total number. During the month, the nurses made 1241 calls to homes for cases, and 1188 home visits to babies.

The unemployment and scarcity of money in Lowell has greatly increased the amount of work done by the guild.

Due to these conditions there are many more people than usual who are unable to pay doctor bills and they come to the guild for assistance and treatment.

The guild is also treating an increased number of infantile cases, due in many cases to under nourishment and conditions brought about by lack of money.

The guild asks the assistance of the people of Lowell in restocking the "Good Cheer Chest" which is nearly empty. In this closet the nurses keep preserves, canned vegetables, and food-stuffs of the sort that bring joy to those who are not fortunate as to be able to have such things for themselves.

As the canning and preserving season has begun and will continue for some time, the guild sends out an appeal to the people to remember the work they are doing and help them to help. "A response to such an appeal will bring satisfaction to the donors of such things in the realization that they are doing a mito in keeping the golden rule."

The guild would also appreciate it

greatly if there are any automobile

owners who could donate their cars on certain days of the week to carry children to the Boston Children's hospital for treatment. The mothers of the children have great difficulty in bringing them there as they are unfamiliar with the city.

MISERABLE FOR TWO YEARS

"Fruit-a-tives" Restored Her Strength and Vitality

MOULTRONVILLE, CARROLL CO., N. H.—"I was all run down and work was burdensome owing to Indigestion, and gas on my stomach which caused me to be in a good deal. My heart seemed to be affected.

It was two years ago that I was in this condition and began the use of "Fruit-a-tives", which proved the very remedy I required. I was freed of the Indigestion, which I attributed to my heart; and I can conscientiously recommend "Fruit-a-tives" the great Fruit Medicine".

couraging report that no attempt is being made to work the mines.

Mr. White made a trip to Boston yesterday and reports there is but little coal on hand in that city. All that is left in the bins has been bought up; also coal is in soft coal, as there is no hard coal to be found anywhere.

Fuel Administrator's Report

A report of the Massachusetts fuel administration shows that on July 1 there were 316,391 tons of domestic anthracite coal in Massachusetts bins. Last year the deliveries in this state amounted to five billion and a quarter tons. There is yet to be received in this state about four million tons before the situation will be brought up to normal. According to Mr. White it will be impossible to make up this deficiency.

The administration's report says that on July 1 there were only 6749 tons of domestic anthracite coal in Lowell. Just how much there is at present he did not care to estimate. He pointed out that there were coal cart clubs which probably had bought up coal so as to fulfill the orders of the club and he said that he imagined that their supply was contained in the above figures.

When asked just what the people said that he himself had bought were going to do for fuel this winter, quite a bit of buckwheat and pea coal, enough to carry him up to the first of the year. There seems to be a pretty fair supply of pea coal available and enough heat can be obtained from it, properly used. While not advising the purchase of pea coal, Mr. White said he had bought it, which seems to be a pretty good indication of the way the wind is blowing.

Mr. White's main reason for not wishing to advance any opinion on the present situation was that he did not know what the government had up its sleeve in the matter. He cited the fact of a Springfield court authority, who when asked what he thought of the situation, replied "What's the use of thinking, it won't do any good."

Regarding the soft coal problem, Mr. White averred that it was a difficult problem to keep track of. He said that industrial men were buying very little coal and are drawing on their supplies on hand. He claimed that he did not know the reason for this, whether it was on account of the present industrial situation or from some other cause, but the fact remained that the industrial men would not listen to purchase parleys on coal.

SURE HELP TO SICK WOMEN

Mrs. Baker, so much Benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Anxious to Help Others

Lebanon, Indiana.—"I was completely run down from women's troubles and stomach trouble and for a long time was hardly able to do my work. I had some friends who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they told me about it. I know what it has done for me and I recommend it to others, as I am sure it will be a great help to all sick women. It is a wonderful medicine, and I give you permission to use my testimonial and my photograph." — Mrs. EMMA BAKER, 810 S. East St., Lebanon, Indiana.

According to information divulged by Temple Selbels, county solicitor, the girl testified at the hearing that McKeithen, whose body was found in an isolated spot in the woods west of Montgomery, last Thursday, was killed by his own revolver. She told of a love affair between herself and McKeithen at whose home she had spent much time.

When they met in the lonely clump of woods where the young man's body was found, she said, he seized her by the waist, drew a revolver and announced he intended to kill her and then end his life. She tried to wrest the pistol from his hand, she testified, and in the scuffle the weapon was discharged.

She told the court, according to Solicitor Selbels, that she could not say whether McKeithen or she pulled the trigger.

buyers will rebel at high prices and sit tight awaiting new developments. Reports come from Buffalo, Columbus and other places which have a bearing on the situation. In general, but none of these seemed to offer much in the line of encouragement.

The most encouraging report of all is from the coal fields of Pennsylvania, which says that the Consolidated Coal company there is operating its mines and attempting to comply with President Harding's wishes that the mines remain open. Much of the coal used in New England comes from the Pennsylvania mines, and as they are being operated gives some hope to the otherwise gloomy outlook in this section of the country. John Maloney and Son Save
Mrs. Maloney and 11 Children in Brockton Fire

Then Fell Exhausted in Burning House—Rescued
by Police

BROCKTON, July 27.—John Maloney, 41 years old, and his eldest son, John, Jr., 23, fought together saving Mrs. Maloney and 11 children from fire and smoke early today, until father and son fell exhausted overcome by smoke in the burning house. They were rescued by Policemen W. S. Wilson and Michael Gilmartin. Mrs. Maloney with the youngest child, a baby of two months, in her arms, were the first taken out by the husband. The family escaped only by getting out in their night clothes as soon as they were awakened by the fire that had gained considerable headway. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph P. Wilbur and two children escaped with difficulty from a second tenement. The fire gutted the dwelling.

MRS. REISLER INSISTS SHE KILLED SISTER

NEW YORK, July 27.—A message from her dead father, urging her to make an end of her business, prompted Mrs. Minnie Reisler, wife of "John the Barber," Reisler, widely known sporting man, to shoot her sister, Mrs. Katz, police quoted her as saying yesterday after she had been locked up with her two sons and a brother on homicide charges.

Miss Katz was shot in her home early yesterday. Detectives indicated they believed Mrs. Reisler's statement, although Miss Katz in a deathbed statement told them that Morris Reisler, a son of Mrs. Reisler, fired the shots which killed her. Morris and George Reisler, and Max Katz were held with Mrs. Reisler after an investigation of their stories.

"I did it because my father, who is dead, came to me in a dream and told me to put an end to all this business," police said Mrs. Reisler told them. "He knew what was going on. In the Jewish religion, people believe those dreams. I was disgusted with myself for waiting. And I am glad I did it."

An all-day search failed to bring "John the Barber," whose alleged love affair with Miss Katz was declared by Mrs. Reisler to have been the cause of the shooting, into the hands of the police. The last time they saw him, they said, was Tuesday night when he went to Brooklyn police station and asked for protection for the Katz girl.

Detectives visited the apartment, but did not remain, and a few hours later the screams of Mrs. Jennie Katz, the girl's mother, told of what had happened.

Mrs. Reisler maintained throughout the day the same attitude of defiance that she had had since early in the morning when she screamed "You'll be the dying girl, as the killer accused Morris Reisler of the murder."

"I shot her and I'm glad of it," she told reporters.

"We broke in the door and she came running toward me in her night gown. I yelled and shot. She grabbed me and I fired again. She kept on fighting and I gave her another, because she wasn't dead then. I went again. Then she dropped."

"I wanted to catch them both. Morris and George and my brother Max were with me because they thought I was going to beat her up. They did not know I had a gun. We found out my husband and Bertha were going to Bertha's apartment Tuesday night and we stood in the rain waiting for them. But when they drove up Bertha saw us and my husband stepped on the gas and I couldn't shoot. Then later on the boys helped me break in the door and I killed Bertha. I am glad of it, too. It's off my mind and I won't have to worry about it any more."

The alleged romance of Miss Katz and Reisler came to light in a court action last year when Mrs. Reisler sued her husband for separation, naming Miss Katz as a "love slave." Mrs. Reisler charged her husband had neglected her while he lavished money and attention on her younger sister.

Reisler is known principally for his claims to the management at one time of Jack Dempsey. Dempsey denied Reisler ever managed him. Starting 15 years ago as a barber in a small shop near Herald square, he made money and soon operated a chain of barber shops in the Times Square section.

He went to Tulsa, Okla., where he promoted fights and now owns the largest fight arena in the southwest. He also had large oil interests in that section of the country and was interested in the automobile business.

ROW IN SENATE OVER WOOL CONTINUES

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The row in the senate over the wool schedule of the administration tariff bill passed today into its second phase. By a vote of 33 to 16, the senate late yesterday approved the committee's proposal for a rate of 23 cents a pound on scoured content of wool after rejecting, 38 to 19, a proposal by Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, to cut the rate to 28 cents, and defeating, 42 to 22, Senator Lenroot's plan to limit to 60 per cent ad valorem the rates on coarse wool.

These votes brought the senate to the decision to wait and manufacture a proposal. The democrats, under the leadership of Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, planned to make a strenuous fight against the duties on yarn, clothing, cloth and other woolen goods, but the test vote today had led many senators to the conclusion that about the only changes that would be made in the rates as originally reported would be those proposed by the finance committee majority.

RUM SMUGGLERS AGAIN ACTIVE

Seizure of Three Alleged Rum-Running Boats Near New York Harbor

Officials Believe Boats Came From Some Larger Ship Anchored Off the Coast

NEW YORK, July 27.—Seizure of three alleged rum-running boats overnight was declared by federal prohibition agents today to indicate the resumption of activity by liquor smugglers, who have been uncommonly quiet for several weeks.

The three boats were seized near this harbor, and officials believe they came from some larger ship anchored several miles off the coast.

The first seizure was reported by the harbor police that of the auxiliary sloop "K-10 707" which was taken in the Narrows. They found George Williams and his brother Edward, both of Jersey City, aboard the boat with 250 cases of liquor, they claim. The second ship was taken by coast guards, who had gone to her aid when she grounded on a sandbar off Point Woods.

They said they found the vessel to be sloop "J.H.P." carrying 1200 cases of liquor worth $40,000. The radio reported the third seizure the "dry navy" ship "Irene," which went out last Tuesday, reported she had picked up the sloop "K-10 707" three miles from Fire Island and that the boat was headed for New York with a cargo of liquor so heavy that the water was washing over her gunwales.

GIRL HELD FOR MURDER

Dallas, Tex., Woman Charged With Killing New Haven Man at Cleveland

CLEVELAND, July 27.—Mabel C. Champion, 22, of Dallas, Tex., today was charged by the police with the murder of Thomas F. O'Connell of New Haven, Conn., who was shot to death during a quarrel in a downtown restaurant yesterday.

Her husband, A. P. Champion, who was taken into custody with the woman, is being held as a witness. When first arrested, he said he was Clifford Barnett of Kansas City, Kan., and was registered at a hotel under this name. At that time he denied the woman was his wife.

Police say the woman is wanted in Indianapolis, where it is alleged she jumped half-bald after having been arrested on a charge of picking pockets.

O'Connell, first thought to be Edward O'Connell of Cambridge, Mass., was identified by his wife. Mrs. O'Connell said she and her husband had been spending a vacation at Geneva-on-the-Lake, 60 miles east of here.

RESTS IN OCEAN GRAVE

Old Frigate Granite State Fought Second Losing Battle With Fire

BEVERLY, July 27.—The old frigate Granite State, a contemporary of the Constitution, fought her second losing battle with fire yesterday and today rested in an ocean grave.

The vessel, which was badly damaged by flames about a year ago, as she lay at her pier in New York, again caught fire yesterday as she was being towed to Eastport, Me., to be broken up. The bulk burned fiercely all day, but the stout timbers resisted the attack of the flames until midnight, when observers ashore saw the blaze suddenly go out. This morning the ship had disappeared.

The tug that had the Granite State in tow stood by throughout the evening. The cause of the fire was unknown.

EXPORTATION OF COAL

Question of Whether British Miners Will Take Any Action Comes Up

LONDON, July 27 (by the Associated Press).—The question whether British coal miners will take any action against the exportation of coal to America was expected to be discussed at a meeting today of the executive committee of the Miners' Federation. Meanwhile, reports from British coal fields indicate that nothing will be done by the miners, who after a long period in their industry are appreciating the stimulus given to employment through the American demand.

The Scottish coal field has advanced prices sharply since America entered the market, while freight rates also have risen and tonnage has become scarce.

The greatest effect of the American demand, however, has been produced in the south Wales fields, where rheumatism has succeeded a long period of depression.

American agents snapped up all the coal available in the Cardiff market at the low price ruling last week, and engaged tonnage at low rates. Their inquiries for further orders continue, and it is said there will be sufficient American orders to absorb all that the collieries can produce to the end of August. The exact amount of the order is unknown.

Mayor and Board at Odds service board's meeting of July 17th at which a vote was passed relative to procedure in hiring employees in departments that come under its supervision. This vote made it obligatory upon superintendents to requisition help from the secretary of the board, the latter, in turn, to obtain the board's approval thereto.

The mayor says that the present procedure, or practice of engaging men directly contrary to the intent and content of this vote.

Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, chairman of the board, when seen today, said that the letter had not been brought to his attention and will not be until the time of meeting. Consequently, he did not care to comment upon it at any length. He did say, however, that the question of hiring men was brought up. Decided to have superintendents submit through the secretary the number of men wanted and then get the approval of the board."

What explanation can you offer for ignoring your own vote of above date?

Kindly reply and oblige.

Very truly yours,

was greater than for any previous week this year, due, in a measure to an increase in street maintenance from

It was brought out, however, that a portion of this increase was due to the fact that paving work had been done on regular maintenance money owing to the depletion of the regular paving loan, but that a transfer would be made as soon as the new loan became available.

NEW SUMMER WHITE HOUSE AND GROUNDS

Here are three views of the "summer White House"—and you can bet it has a golf course attached. Edward McLean, Washington, D. C., publisher, recently offered the place, which is his country home, to the president for the summer, and the president accepted. It is only a short distance from the capital. IMPROVEMENT IN COAL SITUATION

Favorable Reaction to Government's Efforts to Stimulate Coal Production

13,083 Cars Loaded Monday as Compared With 9860 on Saturday

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Favorable reaction to the government's effort to stimulate coal production despite the miners' strike, was seen today in figures assembled by the railroads, showing that 13,083 cars of coal were loaded on Monday at operating mines as compared with 9860 cars last Saturday and with a daily average of 10,911 cars during the six working days previous to Saturday.

OPPOSES MORE POLICE

Mayor Curley Replies to Police Commissioner's Request for 100 Extra Men

BOSTON, July 27.—Mayor Curley, responding to the suggestion of Police Commissioner Herbert Wilson that 100 patrolmen be added to the Boston department, said that in his opinion the present force was adequate. Commissioner Wilson, in a letter to the mayor, enumerated industrial troubles, the number of holdups and large store robberies, and traffic congestion as among the reasons for suggesting more police. Mayor Curley declared that the present Boston force was "25 per cent larger in proportion to the population than New York's."

NEED MORE MONEY FOR GOLD STAR MEDALS

The sum of $2200, voted by the city council, to be expended for the purchase of approximately 150 gold star medals to be given to the mothers of those boys who were killed during the late war, will not be enough by $100 to fulfill the contract if the medals are to be purchased according to the selection made yesterday by Col. Stevens. An additional appropriation of $160 will be necessary to carry out Col. Stevens' selection as an estimate of the total cost brings the figure up to about $3360.

SURVIVORS OF SHIP WRECK ARRIVE

BOSTON, July 27.—Three men who were aboard the hulk of the freighter Granite State, which burned and sank off the north shore yesterday while being towed to Eastport, Me., had upon their arrival here today that they had no knowledge of the ship's origin.

Joseph Mulholland, son of the owner of the hulk, and Nat Aronson, two of those aboard, took in the small boat and reached the tug, George Pleeks, which was later taken off by the tug.

STRUCK BY MACHINE Kenneth Humphrey, aged 11 years and residing at 253 Morrellack street, was slightly injured late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile at the junction of Church and Central streets. Mrs. Elizabeth M. McDermott of 105 Chestnut street, driver of the car, claims that the little fellow ran from the sidewalk into the side of her machine. She offered to take him to the hospital, but he refused on the ground that his injuries were slight.

Police Will Lead

The reason ascribed for the short sojourn of the police in the neighboring town is that their services are not required as everything is going along peacefully in Billerica.

The state police, 12 in number, came to Billerica a week ago last Saturday by order of the state commissioner of public safety, and pitched their tents on a tract of land owned by the Kearney estate and situated about a mile from the carsheds along the railroad tracks. Since their advent in the town the men have gone on long walks through the various sections of the district and have partaken of their meals and slept in the tents pitched for their comfort. They have found that the residents of Billerica as well as the strikers from the shors, who are doing picket duty are law-abiding citizens.

HASTEN CROP GROWTH BATTERY ADJUSTMENT BY POTENTIOMETER

Radio Waves Cause Vegetation to Reach Maturity More Rapidly

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Radio is speeding the growth of crops!

This remarkable discovery has been made by government agricultural experts here. They have been conducting experiments and observations on farms near high-powered radio stations where they report more rapid growth of soil products than ordinarily. Radio has been known to be an indispensable aid to farmers in the broadcasting of special agricultural information and reports on weather, market and atmospheric conditions. But not until the present revelations were made has radio been known to be of direct help to the farmer in the production of his crops.

The government experts studying this phenomenon have discovered that the high-frequency waves from the broadcasting stations nearby have caused vegetation to take on a larger growth and reach its maturity much sooner than under ordinary conditions.

Proceeding on this discovery, scientists have established an experiment station at Stanfield, where they are concentrating their attention on the production of crops through the aid of wireless waves.

ST. ANNE'S SCOUTS IN SUMMER CAMP

The long-sought-for pond camp of St. Anne's Boy Scouts, Troop 10, was opened last Saturday, and is in charge of Scoutmaster H. J. Thomas and his assistants. A wireless apparatus has been installed, and through operator John Lambert Jr., news is received from many broadcasting stations. Twenty-four scouts were present on the opening day and on Sunday the first dip in the pond was taken, followed by boating, canoeing and sports. The scouts have received a challenge from the Y. M. C. A. boys at Camp Nahasset to a baseball game. The challenge has been accepted. Parents and friends of the boys are invited to visit the camp.

BY PAUL F. GODLEY

American's Foremost Radio Authority

To all those who are using vacuum tubes in their radio work, the use of the rheostat for adjustment of filament currents is well known. But there seem to be many who do not understand or appreciate the utility of the device which is known as the "A" battery potentiometer for adjustment of the "B" battery.

For this work potentiometers of various types have been tried. In the main they have consisted of a high-resistance unit, which was placed either in series with, or in shunt to, the "B" battery. When in series, much larger batteries than the normal ones were necessary to overcome the added resistance of the unit.

When in shunt, due to the high voltage employed in the plate circuits of the tube, considerable energy was wasted in the potentiometer unit. This was particularly objectionable since the capacity of the battery commonly called upon for this work was very small—often of the flashlight battery size.

Connection. The "A" battery potentiometer is connected directly across the "A" or filament lighting battery. This battery is usually six volts. If the resistance of the potentiometer unit is 300 ohms or more, the amount of current flowing through it is entirely negligible. It would require many weeks to completely discharge a storage battery through such a resistance.

But the effect of the potentiometer is as connected in the accompanying circuit is all that can be desired.

It enables the addition to, or the subtraction from the "B" battery of the "A" battery voltage.

For example, when the potentiometer slider is at the extreme right, the circuit from the plate through the telephone to the filament includes the full 22½-volt battery and the full six-volt battery. When the contact of the potentiometer is slid to the extreme left on the negative terminal of the

ALL GONE FEELING

It is astonishing what immediate relief can be obtained by those who are debilitated, run down, without strength or ambition, by building up the blood. The nerves are quieted, the digestion toned up and new health and vigor imparted by the rich red blood that courses through the body.

Mrs. Margaret Cogrove of No. 19 Lowell street, Lewiston, Me., attributes her trouble to thin blood. She says:

"For a year I was in broken health and should have been bed most of the time. I had an all gone feeling and my blood was very poor. I had no appetite for anything and could not sleep. Sometimes I would be so dizzy that I would stagger on the street. I was so nervous the least noise would make me jump. My back was so lame that I could not stoop over. Going upstairs would cause my heart to palpitate. Medical treatment that I took did me no good.

"Finally I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began to feel better in a few days after I began the treatment with them. I am much stronger now and my blood is richer. My appetite is good and I have no more nervousness, indigestion or dizzy spells. I sleep well and feel better than I have in years. I can truthfully say that I never got any real benefit until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 60 cents per box. Send for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

FOLK DANCE PROGRAM UNDER PREPARATION

An innovation in the playground work has been instituted by the park department in the form of a dancing contest, which will take place during the last week in August.

The program will include the folk dances of Scandinavia, Finland, Scotland, Italy, Ireland and Spain. It was originally intended to have several Teutonic folk dances, but this plan had to be abandoned as the department could not obtain the accompanying music. Teams of dancers have already been chosen at the various playgrounds and the dances are being rehearsed under the direction of the instructors.

The junior dances, which are for children under eight years of age, will be open to both boys and girls. This group of dances will include: Greeting and Meeting, Shoemaker, I See You, Children's Polka, Danish Dance of Greeting, Seven Jumps and Cucurucu.

The following dances are planned for girls between 8 and 16 years of age: Norwegian Mountain Dance, Gustav's Skoal, Highland Schottische, Ace of Diamonds, Rock the Flax, Irish Lilt, Hop Mor Anniken, Blecking, and Tantill.

SHIP DAMAGED BY ICEBERG ARRIVES

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., July 27.—The Canadian government merchant marine steamer Canadian Pioneer, which collided with an iceberg about nine miles east of the straits of Bell Isle, has arrived here under her own steam. A hole was opened in the starboard bow below the waterline, and the forepeak flooded but the water is under control of the ship's pumps. The forward bulkheads are intact, and no cargo is damaged.

The collision occurred during fog. When the fog lifted 15 icebergs were seen in the vicinity.

MASS MEETING FOR RAILROAD MEN HELD AT NORTH BILLERICA

Four Speakers Address Large Crowd on Shopmen's Attitude in Present Strike—J. J. Connolly of Boston Says Massachusetts Will Repudiate Republican Party Next Fall

That six states of the union have repudiated the republican party in recent elections and that Massachusetts would follow suit in the fall was the statement and prediction made last evening by John J. Connolly of Boston, a vice president of the International Association of Machinists. While speaking to a large gathering at a mass meeting held on the Kohlrausch playgrounds in North Billerica under the auspices of the strikers of the Boston & Maine railroads in that town.

The meeting was held for the purpose of giving the strikers an opportunity to lay bare the facts concerning their grievances against the railroad company and also to urge the residents of the town to keep away from the shops while the strike is on. Besides Mr. Connolly the speakers were Harry W. Chandler, Thomas F. Golding and Maurice Reardon.

There were about a thousand in attendance and the large gathering remained until the last speaker had finished. The speakers spoke from an automobile truck. The meeting was opened by Mr. Chandler. Who after explaining the purpose of the meeting, read a circular, 7000 copies of which were yesterday distributed throughout the city. He introduced as the presiding officer Thomas F. Golding, a member of the press committee of the strike who, after a few opening remarks, spoke in part as follows:

"It is now four weeks since 400,000 railroad shopmen laid down their tools to take up what we consider their final battle for the American Federation of Labor. We have been called outlaws because we did not allow the railroads of the country to defy the decisions of the railroad board and continue to violate the terms of the transportation act.

"Mr. Harding and his associates have gone along and have tried to break the backbone of the shopmen's strike. Military and state police have been called out to try and break the backbone of the men who were up against it. We are in this fight and it is our last fight and no power on earth can drive us back to work until we have won.

"Only recently Governor Cox has come to the front and has called out the state police. Where was Governor Cox for the past two years when he knew that the railroad men were working under conditions that were unbearable and when the railroads were forcing the men to throw down their tools? It is the first time that the working men of the country are without representation.

other business interests who were out to crush organized labor, and said: "What the railroad men wanted and textile workers of the country are now doing can now be laid at the door of those handling the reins of the government."

The speaker next denounced the unions proposed for the new workers in the railroad shops and said they are to be controlled solely by the railroads themselves. After further attacks upon recent decisions handed down by Justice Taft of the supreme court upon child labor questions, Mr. Connolly said that six states of the union had already repudiated the present party and that it will not be long until the party is also repudiated in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New Hampshire.

"The government," he said, "must be representative of all the people and not of any particular sect or group."

INMATE RUNS AMUCK, ANOTHER BOY LOSES LIFE SHOOTS TWO WOMEN

IN CLAY PIT

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—Suddenly becoming insane, William Smith, an inmate of the Presbyterian Home for the Aged Couples and Single Men yesterday shot two women, one of them being Mrs. Lillian Pierce, superintendent of the institution. He then fled to his room and took his own life by shooting his throat with a razor and firing a bullet into his head.

Mrs. Pierce had just bowed her head to say grace at the noon meal, when the 120 inmates, most of them women, assembled in the dining room, when Smith appeared in the doorway brandishing a revolver. With a loud yell he began shooting. Mrs. Pierce fell to the door with a bullet wound in her neck. Her assistant, Miss Elizabeth Wise, was struck in the right arm. The weak and feeble men and women, stricken with terror, fled from the room as best they could. Smith fired three more shots, none of which took effect.

Shouting, "I'll kill anyone who comes near me," Smith made his way to the third floor. Some one entered Smith's room just in time to see the man shoot himself. Despite the two wounds he struggled with the officer several minutes before he fell. The condition of neither of the injured women is serious.

THE ANTI-LYNCHING BILL.

Keen interest is taken in the anti-lynching bill now pending before congress and regarded as the first step toward grappling with the national ignominy cast upon this nation by the frequent lynchings in the southern states.

It has required a great deal of study and research by legal experts to frame a measure to prevent lynching that would stand the test of constitutionality.

Moorsfield Storey, Herbert K. Stockton and other authorities have submitted strong legal arguments in favor of the bill and in addition it has been declared constitutional by the judiciary committees of the house and senate respectively.

Short of the decision of the supreme court, there can be no higher guarantee of any bill's constitutionality.

In dealing with a matter of this kind, the federal government must guard against any unwarranted interference with the rights of the states, for despite the culpability of the southern states, they would promptly protest against any interference with their prerogatives that could not be backed up by the highest legal authority.

There can be no question as to the necessity of such a law as the bill would provide, for the reason that there is no attempt made to punish any of the lynching mobs in the southern states. Since 1889 there were 3,467 lynchings in the United States, of which 65 were of women. During 1921, sixty-four persons were done to death by mobs and in 1922 there have already been thirty lynchings, six of the victims having been burned at the stake.

In many cases of lynching, as might be expected, the victims are innocent and in others the crime charged against the accused is of trivial character, but is magnified so as to offer some form of mitigation for the vengeance of the mob in the public eye. The Dyer bill provides that the trial of lynchers shall be conducted in federal courts in every case in which the state courts have allowed thirty days to elapse without taking any action to secure conviction of the guilty parties. Of course every trial must be preceded by the apprehension of the accused and this would also fall to the lot of the federal officials.

The second feature of the bill provides that a fine of $10,000 shall be placed on the county in which the lynching occurs, and an equal amount on the county in which the mob seized the victim, if other than the one in which the lynching occurred. This would probably be the chief deterrent, as it would require a great many convictions to instill a fear of detection into the minds of the people, so long have they been accustomed to connivance by the state authorities. And it is a very difficult thing to secure evidence sufficient to convict in lynching cases.

Legally the Dyer bill rests solely on a clause of Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution, which reads: "Nor shall any state deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." It is because the southern states have outrageously neglected to enforce that provision that the Dyer bill is necessary. It should be enacted and promptly applied.

THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

There are stormy times ahead of President Harding's ship-subsidy bill to which he has pledged himself irrevocably. Insisting that it must be passed at the present session on parity of having congress reconvene for that purpose. Recently Senator Fletcher ascribed the failure of the nation's merchant fleet to operate successfully to Chairman Lasker of the shipping board, who, he said, had changed the board into a political machine and spent his time sending out political propaganda instead of attending to the legitimate business of the board.

Senator Fletcher asserts that the ship-subsidy bill would present to the private ship owners a subsidy of $50,000,000 a year. It is no wonder he states that the private ship owners are flooding the country with propaganda in favor of the proposition. Part of the campaign in support of the bill consists in an effort to discredit the merchant marine as established under the Wilson administration and for this purpose the ships are described by Chairman Lasker as "a costly heritage."

It should be plain that the first necessary element of a merchant marine is a grand fleet of ships such as that which was constructed under the democratic administration and turned over to the republican party. It is largely lack of proper business direction that holds the ships idle in port, and it is doubtful whether the subsidy to be offered under the proposed bill would establish the merchant marine on a permanent and paying basis. Nevertheless, President Harding is anxious to make the venture and upon him and his party will rest the responsibility. We have the ships and the men to handle them and all that is needed is proper direction and a policy that will secure the necessary trade to keep them busy. That shipboard might work disaster where the opposing candidate was married to a girl from Mass or Wellesley or Radcliffe.

This is the time to put a big force of men on street work if the work planned is to be done at all. There has been so much bungling and delay owing to executive interference with the Public Service Board early in the season that the board is justified now in trying to make up for lost time. If the men are earning the money they receive, there is no room for criticism.

The high school movement goes right ahead to raise money for an athletic field. The merits of the enterprise have been fully explained and now it should be necessary only for the collectors to make their rounds.

The proposed tariff on wool will prove as great a bugaboo to the republican party as the bonus on which it is hopelessly divided.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Along with their multifarious duties Lowell's traffic officers and time to aid and assist aged people across the paths of heavy traffic and vehicles, I watched Traffic Officer "Jack" McNulty in the square gallantly escorting an aged man and a crippled lady the other day, and heard many compliments on such thoughtful acts.

It might be said in passing that Lowell's traffic squad compares with the best in this section of the country; a fine set of fine-looking men, even tempered, but firm in the upholding of the regulations. Superintendent Atkinson and Traffic Supervisor Connor ought to be proud of them, for, in action, the sizzling heat or the storms of winter seem to bother them not at all.

Mr. John J. Healey, who conducts the clothing establishment of Mitchell, The Tailor, is loud in his praise of the city of Washington, which he visited on his recent trip to the Elk's convention in company with Mrs. Healey. He states that the cost of merchandise of various kinds in Washington is not nearly as high as it is in Lowell. This is particularly true of food. The hotel rates in Washington are also very reasonable, probably not more than would be charged in the hotels of Massachusetts cities such as Lowell and Worcester. Of course there may be one or two exceptions that did not come to his notice. Mr. Healey was deeply impressed with the beauty, the cleanliness, the quietude and the democratic spirit of the city of Washington. In Atlantic City, he says, things are very much different in regard to prices. As to hotel rates he allows that only the wealthy can afford to stop there if they put up at the leading hotels and call for the best service in the dining rooms, the public conveyances and leading places of amusement. Evidently Mr. and Mrs. Healey had a delightful trip, but although they visited Baltimore, Atlantic City, Philadelphia and New York they were more deeply impressed with Washington than any other city they had seen.

To build and furnish a high-class hotel costs about $8,000 a room, according to the manager of a New York skyscraper tavern. One of the largest New York hotels has to get $10 a week for each room, to pay interest alone, at six per cent, on its original investment. Only the wealthy can afford to patronize such hostesses. Not a very delightful prospect, granting that we are headed for a day when most of us will live in huge apartment houses like modern hotels. The greater congestion, the more the cost. To cut the expense of living, scatter onwards.

There have been several narrow escapes from accident to automobiles at the intersection of Andover and High streets, where drivers passing an Andover street tried to make the left turn around the traffic beacon. These traffic beacons are all right where the streets intersect at right angles, but where there is an oblique angle there will also be an acute angle to be turned which makes the sounding of the beacon with any degree of accuracy very difficult. When the drivers of large cars try to turn the sharp angle from lower Andover to the left to pass down High street, they have found their cars up against the sidewalk and liable to run into the fence.

So difficult and dangerous is this turn that it should not be snighted upon, but so long as the beacon is there the drivers feel that they are obliged to go around it even when the angle they have to turn is not more than 6 degrees.

The high school movement goes right ahead to raise money for an athletic field. The merits of the enterprise have been fully explained and now it should be necessary only for the collectors to make their rounds.

The proposed tariff on wool will prove as great a bugaboo to the republican party as the bonus on which it is hopelessly divided.

Assessor Blazon has an undisputed right to hold the office until his successor is legally appointed, confirmed and qualified.

If our city officials lived up to the present charter, there would be a slight sentiment in favor of a change.

GEN. ROGERS DECORATED

U. S. and All Allied Governments Honor Chief Quartermaster, A. E. F.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—In recognition of his valuable services during the World War, Maj. Gen. Harry L. Rogers, quartermaster general of the army, has been decorated by the Italian government with the insignia of commander of the Order of the Crown, the ceremony of investiture taking place in the Italian embassy at Washington.

Gen. Rogers, as chief quartermaster of the A.E.F., was Gen. Pershing's right hand supply man, and was faced with the biggest supply problem that has ever confronted any army—the feeding and clothing of 3,000,000 men separated from their home base of supply by 3,000 miles of water. So successfully did Gen. Rogers perform this titanic task that not only did our own government award him the Distinguished Service Medal, but he has also been decorated by all the allied governments, the Italian decoration completing the chain.

The Chamber Telegram.

The telegram follows:

"The associated coal and railroad strikes are engaging the closest attention of the 7500 members of the Boston chamber of commerce. Our various businesses are, and will be, increasingly affected. Rail service may be curtailed. Nevertheless, we believe the right determination of the principles at issue in these two strikes is more important to us and to the public than the temporary avoidance of losses and the suffering of serious personal inconvenience."

"Today's Washington dispatches indicate that political pressure is being brought to bear upon railroad executives to induce them to re-instate strikers, retaking for them their seniority rights. These rights, as exercised, are valuable to the railroad workers, and are costly to the public, which pays for them in increased rates. Men who strike against the wage findings of a government tribunal expressly organized for the purpose of settling wage questions and working conditions should not be permitted to retain these valuable privileges which they have abandoned. Thousands of men—more than one-half of the number who struck—have been replaced in New England. These new employees were engaged upon the express promise of permanent positions for all competent men. This promise was founded upon the public statements of the United States Railroad Labor board. These promises must, we believe, be considered sacred."

"Then Strikes Will Flourish!"

"If railroad employees can strike in violation of the findings of the United States Railroad Labor board and then secure through any governmental agency or authority their restoration to their position with their former seniority rights and further secure the discharge of men who have been employed in their stead, then we may expect that strikes will inevitably flourish, as a profitable labor speculation."

"Both the government and the public pay for them in increased rates. Men who strike against the wage findings of a government tribunal expressly organized for the purpose of settling wage questions and working conditions should not be permitted to retain these valuable privileges which they have abandoned. Thousands of men—more than one-half of the number who struck—have been replaced in New England. These new employees were engaged upon the express promise of permanent positions for all competent men. This promise was founded upon the public statements of the United States Railroad Labor board. These promises must, we believe, be considered sacred."

"The letter provided a clue by which

"We urge that mining operations be given the fullest protection, and that the findings of the Railroad Labor board continue to be given the full backing of all federal authorities. We believe the public will accept the present losses and inconveniences—which may be expected to increase—as far preferable to establishing the precedent of bowing to organized refusal to accept fair wage rates, duly established by competent governmental authority, and upon which board, the public, the employees and the railroads are all represented. In doing this, they will renounce the attempt to enforce excessive wages through intimidation and violence. We urge that any settlement may protect both the loyal employees who remained on duty and the new employees who courageously took over the abandoned jobs, and so kept our trains running. We believe that the determination of the vital issues involved should be settled now—not by compromise, but by adherence to sound principles."

Only a small portion of such a subway system as Chicago needs can be built at the depth that would be necessary if excavation should be made under the street proper, owing to the expense, according to Mr. Denton, who has submitted to U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the Chicago Council Transportation committee, a plan for a subway system ten or twelve feet deep under the sidewalk instead of twenty-five to fifty feet deep under the streets. It is understood that application has been made to the United States patent office for protection of the plan, which Mr. Denton believes applicable to other cities.

"The city of Chicago owns the streets of the city including the sidewalks up to the building lines," said Mr. Denton. "The city has the right to lease to the surface lines the space under the sidewalks for the car lines. This space is now used, if at all, chiefly by business houses for coal holes.

"Such a deep subway as funds could be provided for would be inadequate for present needs, whereas a subway system built ten or twelve feet deep could provide for the future. In ten or twenty-five years the population of the city will be greatly increased. At present we are twenty-five years behind the times in our provision for traffic; most proposals are designed only to catch up with the growth that has already taken place and are not far-sighted. A deep subway would be a temporary makeshift."

"The sidewalk subway could be built at one-tenth the expense of a deep subway, in one-tenth the time, and could extend throughout the city, ten times as extensive a system could be built for the same money. In addition to its economy, the plan offers several advantages."

"In the first place, it would eliminate long stairs, inclines or elevators which many people, especially during the rush hours, would not and could not take.

"A deep subway is also darker, harder to ventilate, and the noise is like that inside of a drum. It also is dangerous, and in case of accident a trap for humanity."

"Under the new plan glass in the sidewalk would supply most of the light required in daytime, ventilation could be arranged along the buildings. It would work automatically, the cars in motion forcing the air out in front of them and drawing in fresh air behind them by suction."

"The cars would take on and let off people at every street intersection. In the 'loop' district, and would make three to five times the speed made on the surface, run eight to ten times more cars, and carry as many more passengers."

"The plan provides for such a routing of cars that no tracks would cross each other on grade or above or below grade, thus saving much time and eliminating a cause of accidents."

HARDING URGES MEN TO RETURN

President in Sharp Reply to
R. R. Union Leader on Rail and Coal Strikes

Denies Right of Any Class to Imperil American Welfare

Ready to Submit to People
Right of Free Men to Be Protected as Workers

WASHINGTON, July 27.—President Harding in a telegram sent yesterday to J. Cleve Dean, chairman of the railway employees' publicity association, Chattanooga, Tenn., invites Dean to urge striking railway workers to accept the decision of the railroad labor board and return to work "until you and I and everyone else interested in American welfare may join in asking the railroad labor board to give a re-hearing on any question concerning which there is reasonable doubt about the correctness or the justice of the decision made."

The president's message was in reply to a telegram he received Sunday from Dean in which it was said that "to attempt to operate mines and railroads by military forces or to attempt to draft men into mining or railroad service would be an attempt to establish involuntary servitude."

President Harding in his telegram said he was convinced Dean's "attempted appeal to American prejudice will fall upon deaf ears."

The president told Dean that if he were the "believer in peace and harmony and the reign of justice which you would have believed, I invite you now to pass on the failure of the mine workers to accept the awards of an able and impartial commission in determining the merits of the dispute between coal miners and coal operators."

The assertion of Dean that "The American farmer and labor have come to realize the hostile attitude of G. O. P." Mr. Harding said he would treat with "contempt."

President's Telegram

The president's telegram, dated July 25, was as follows:

"Mr. J. Cleve Dean, chairman, Railway Employees' Publicity Association,

Chattanooga, Tenn."

"Since you speak as chairman of the Railway Employees' Publicity Association and it is exceedingly important that the American people know precisely the questions at issue in the present railway and coal strikes, I am more than glad to answer your telegram, though I can only treat your politically partisan references with that contempt which is felt by every good citizen in the hour of deep public concern."

"Happily for the American public, everything done and everything said by government authority relating to the two strikes is a matter of record and cannot in any way be distorted. There is no dispute about the loyal American citizenship of the men on strike, nor will anyone question that many of them gave everything that men can give for the service of this country in the World war."

"Nor is it disputed that the men on strike are exercising their constitutional and lawful rights, under existing statutes, in declining to work under the terms decided by the railroad labor board or tendered to the workmen by the mine operators of the country."

No Plan to Draft Men

"No one has attempted or proposed to draft free men into either the railway or mining service, or suggested conscription under military force. The military forces of free America are never used for such a purpose. Their service is only that of preventing lawlessness and violence."

"The same unchallenged freedom which permits you and your associates to decline to work is no less the heritage of the free American who chooses to accept employment under the terms proposed. The difference between the two positions is that the striking railroad workers exercise their rights of freedom in seeking to hinder the necessary transportation of the country; notwithstanding the provision made by law for the consideration of any just grievance; and the striking miners seek to prevent the production of coal necessary to common welfare, notwithstanding the offer of an agency to make an impartial settlement while the men who choose to work in response to the call of the country are exercising their like rights, and at the same time are making their contribution to our common American welfare."

"The decisions of the railroad labor board are in compliance with a mandate of the lawmaking body of the United States. Without discussing the decisions at issue, it is fair to assume that a government agency is ever ready to correct an error which is made, else government itself would become unjust. Moreover, it is indisputable that there can be no government unless its mandates are accepted by the citizenship of the republic. This observation relates more particularly to the railroad situation."

"When the mining situation became menacing I invited representatives of the mine workers and the operators to a conference. They came together, they were advised as to the call of common welfare, yet in eight days of opportunity no progress was made."

"In the absence of any tribunal authorized to settle disputes between mine workers and their employers the federal government then voluntarily proposed the creation of a national commission before which the disputes might be settled justly. In the light of full information and in accordance with the best expressions of our modern civilization."

Aimed at Industrial Peace

"Instead of contemplating the resort to force, it anticipated the very opposite—industrial peace with justice to every man concerned. Instead of aiming at involuntary servitude, to which you inexorably refer, the government asked the mine workers to resume their activities. In response to a manifest public need, at precisely the same working conditions as those under which they had been working contentedly for the last two years. Those who spoke for the mine workers refused such a proposal. There is no dispute of the right to refuse."

"Since they declined to respond, and since it is believed there are enough men who love this country and cherish its security, and believe in serving the common welfare, to come to the relief of the mining situation, and avoid suffering, privation and paralysis, I asked the governors of the coal mining states to invite mine operators and mine workers to resume their activities, and to promise that to which every man is entitled, namely, protection in his lawful pursuits. This protection applies also to the men on strike who observe the law and make no lawless interference with men at work, and to the men who are lawfully at work and entitled to protection by every agency of government in that work."

"If you mean to challenge the rightness of free men to be protected in their lawful pursuits against interference and violence, I will be glad to join you in submitting that question to the decision of the American people."

"It will interest you to know that instead of the government's action being an expression of the preference of the capitalistic class, it has been quite as much opposed by those who speak for employers as it has by you and your associates. Government undertakes to represent neither class alone, and is opposed to all conflict among classes, and disputes the right of any group or class, organized or unorganized, to imperil American welfare. Government speaks only for the American people as a whole and the common good of all its citizens."

"In view of all that the government has done or attempted to do during the past year, a hint to relieve the American farmer from the burdens of readjustment and to relieve labor from the hardships of unemployment, I know your attempted appeal to American prejudice will fall upon deaf ears. It is ungrateful and it is untrue."

"If you are the believer in peace and harmony and the reign of justice, which you would have believed, I invite you now to pass judgment on the failure of the mine workers to accept the awards of an able and impartial commission in determining the merits of the dispute between coal miners and coal operators, and I invite you to urge the striking railway workmen to accept the decision of the American railroad labor board, acting under authority of the law, which must be supreme, and return to work under that decision, until you and I, and everyone else interested in American welfare, may join in asking the railroad labor board to give a hearing on any question concerning which there is reasonable doubt about the correctness or the justice of the decision made."

"These are the ways of peace, these are the requirements of enlightened civilization; these are the things expected by your government of its loyal and law-abiding citizenship."

—WARREN G. HARDING.

Dean's Telegram

Dean's telegram was sent under date of that Sunday from Chattanooga. It was as follows:

"I wish to point out to you that the railway employees and miners who are on strike are loyal American citizens who are only exercising their constitutional rights. A large percentage of them fought on European soil that there might be no more war, and for you or any governor to attempt to operate the mines or railroads by military force or to attempt to draft men into mines or railroad service would be an attempt to establish involuntary servitude."

WALTER HAGEN

It looks as if golf is to have its world series.

Many of the other sports put on a big clash between the leaders, so why not golf?

For the world's golf championship of 1922 Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen have already qualified.

Hagen won the British open title from one of the best field that ever took part in that event. The winning of that title gives Hagen the highest ranking among the golfers on the other side.

Recently Gene Sarazen, over the Skokie course at Chicago, won the American open championship. Sarazen's victory was gained over one of the biggest and best fields that has ever contested in the American championship.

Hagen was among the men Sarazen defeated in the American open. However, Hagen was dangerous until the end and finished only a few strokes back of the winner.

With a match—Walter Hagen versus Gene Sarazen for the world's golf title will be asked to sanction the match.

BIG DAY FOR HOME RUNS

Ruth Recovers Form and Drives Out His 17th Yanks Trounce Browns

Giants Increase Lead—Miller, New Red Sox, Makes Two Homers

NEW YORK, July 27.—Babe Ruth the Yankees recovered their bating form simultaneously in the second game of the American League's crucial series coming from behind in the last three innings to bag out 10 runs and trounce the leading St. Louis Browns, 11 to 6.

Ruth piled out his 16th and 17th homers during the attack on four of the Browns' twirlers. Urban Shocker, who blazed the Yankees Tuesday, failed in an attempt to stop the New York slugger and was credited the defeat although he pitched only one inning, the eighth.

The Giants strengthened their grip on the top by taking their second straight from St. Louis, running ahead in the sixth and seventh, tallying seven runs and sowing up the game to 5 to 3.

Adolph Rupp, Connie Mack's mandot sensation, who made his major league debut week ago by beating the Browns, lost to Cleveland, 2 to 0, although holding the Indians to four runs while the Athletics gathered seven of their own.

Dutch Ruether, Brooklyn ace, returned to form after losing three straight, and blanked Pittsburgh, 9 to 0, besides driving in two of his team's runs.

Seven home runs punctuated Philadelphia's double victory over Cincinnati and 12 to 6, and Bob Labouer, a pinch hitter, beat the last out in the ninth by hitting a Homer with one on and Fletcher won the contest on the 13th with another circuit blow.

Three former Yankees, Jack Dunn, Jimmy Mitchell and Elmer Miller, pitched to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2. Miller drove out two home runs and Mitchell scored the other tally after tripling.

Charity's Homer in the ninth gave Washington a 5-4 triumph over Detroit. Ty Cobb increased his lead in the individual driving race to 10 points, after hitting three safe blows while Stigmar won the race.

Alexander lost a pitching duel to McQuillan, 2 to 1 in the final game to a double header but Chicago took the second from the Braves, 5 to 1.

Gay colored silks in Persian and Paisley patterns are also on the roll call of autumn models and the headed costume blouses of chiffon show no lessening of popularity.

Georgette blouses are shown with insets of wool lace that have the effect of embroidery. Brown is the dominant color, often with undertones of green.

One wonders just where these new long frocks are going to lead us. Many of them are retaining a generous width, and lace and bows are being used as trimming on their ample folds.

Perhaps it is to keep up with the popular blistered skins this summer that the new silks carry out the summer idea. At any rate blistered silks are very fashionable and are expected to be even more in evidence in the fall.

SWORDFISHERMAN IS BELIEVED LOST

GLoucester, July 27.—While the relatives of the men aboard the swordfisherman Melville Enos are loth to give up hope that the little boat will return to port, fishermen here are convinced that there is no chance of her returning.

She sailed from here five weeks ago for Georges Bank, fitted, at the ultimate, for three weeks, carrying but nine tons of ice to preserve the catch. The auxiliary fishing schooner has not since been heard from and her owners think that she may have been sunk by some liner. Several weeks ago rumors from an indefinable source were circulated that she had been sunk in collision and that her gasoline tank had exploded and destroyed craft and crew. Neither could be verified.

The Wrecking was brought to Boston Monday by the schooner Eliza Benner, consisting of the whale woodwork of a fish closet, apparently from some fishing craft which had met disaster.

Two weeks ago Capt. Patrick Murphy picked up a body floating on Georges which answered the description of John Blondin of 157 West 7th street, South Boston, a member of the crew of the missing Enos. The body was given a sea burial last Saturday as boat arrived at Portland and reported finding the body of a man floating on Georges, which was also buried at sea. Fishermen here associate these incidents with the loss of the Enos.

As far as known the crew list is as follows: Lee Joyce, master, 31, of 131 East Main street; John P. Powers, 36, 21 Church street; John Tully, Pine street, cook; Walter McKay and John Blondin.

The Enos was built in this city in 1903 and measured 10 tons gross. 8 tons net, was 40 feet long, 14.6 beam and 5.6 depth. She was fitted by the Atlantic Supply company of this city and was owned by the Interstate Fish corporation, which has offices in Rockport, Boston, and also in New York. She was valued at $2500 and was uninsured.

While there is a possibility of her return, the fact that no news has been heard from her since her departure and her provisions and supplies would have run out two weeks ago, does not favor the supposition.

GERMAN SAILORS ON BRITISH SHIPS

BERLIN, July 27.—Shipping circles here note with satisfaction that German sailors are again in demand for the personnel of ships sailing under foreign flags.

The most recent instance cited is that of a modernly equipped salvage vessel which an English company has sent to the Baltic to stand ready for assistance in all cases of distress. It is said here that, although the ship's captain is English, as is also its flag, the crew consists of 36 Germans hailing from Danzig.

Five of the eight Kansas congressmen—all of whom are republicans and are seeking renomination—have opposition. D. R. Laughlin of Concordia, wealthy farmer and anti-taxes crusader, is seeking the republican nomination in the fifth against Congressman James G. Strong. B. B. Baugh of Lawrence and B. E. Dyer of Kansas City are opponents in the second district. Congressmen Ed. Little; State Senator John M. Gray of Wichita and Cleric Zumwalt of Atchison are seeking the toga of Congressman Hays B. White of the sixth. Phil Campbell, now serving his 11th term, representing the third district, which includes Kansas coal fields, has two opponents—W. H. Sproul of Sedan and J. E. Brooks, also of Sedan. In the first, Kansas' other veteran congressman, Dan R. Anthony, has two rivals Fred Volland, well known Topeka clothier, and W. E. Bush, popular secretary of state, 1897-1898, and union printer. The three congressmen whose fences had to be tight no candidates got through are Homer Koch of the fourth, J. N. Thacher of the seventh and Richard E. Bird of the eighth.

TWO WOMEN CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR

TOPEKA, Kan., July 27 (by the Associated Press).—Two women are among the seven candidates for governor at the primaries in this state on Aug. 1. They are Mrs. W. D. Nowry, welfare worker and wife of a wholesale druggist, and Miss Helen Pettigrew, elocutionist and platform entertainer, both residents of Kansas City, Kan. Miss Pettigrew says she expects to be nominated by 30,000 plurality.

The fate of the Kansas Industrial court, which during its life has been opposed at every turn by organized labor, will rest with the voters of the state at the primary.

Two of the seven republican candidates for governor and all three democratic candidates have advocated the abolishment of this court, favored and protected by Governor Allen, who is not a candidate to succeed himself.

Of the republican candidates, former Governor W. R. Stubbs of Lawrenceville; W. Y. Morgan, Hutchinson editor; W. P. Lambertson of Fairview; Mrs. W. D. Lowry of Kansas City; Miss Miss Helen Pettigrew of Kansas City; Fred W. Knapp of Salina and Thomas McNeal of Topeka, the latter two have voiced the sentiment that the court be done away with. The democratic candidates, Henderson Martin of Lawrene, Jonathan M. Davis of Bronson and Leigh Hunt of Kansas City, all have favored its abolishment.

Former Governor Stubbs served from 1909 to 1918, and is now a stockman and banker; Mr. Morgan is a former Lieutenant Governor and publisher of the Hutchinson News; Lambertson is a farmer and for many years a member of the state legislature; Knapp is a banker and former state auditor; McNeal is editor of one of Senator Capper's farm papers; Mrs. Lowry is a welfare worker and wife of a wholesale druggist, and Miss Pettigrew, an elocutionist and platform entertainer.

Neither of the women candidates has been making a campaign nor has either the backing of any of the state's women's organizations. Both have stated that they do not expect to be nominated.

Governor Allen in announcing that he would not be a candidate in the republican primary to succeed himself stated that he was retiring to private life.

The voters will be confronted with a list of 12 names of persons seeking state office. These are said to include probably as many more seeking nominations for congress, legislature, district court judgeships and county offices. There are three complete state tickets in the field—republican, democratic and socialist.

The republicans have a contest stated for every nomination except Lieutenant governor, state treasurer and state printer. The democrats have two contests, there being three seeking gubernatorial honors, while four are ambitious to run for state superintendents of public instruction. The socialists filed a full ticket with one candidate for each office, headed by M. L. Phillips of McPherson for governor.

Five of the eight Kansas congressmen—all of whom are republicans and are seeking renomination—have opposition. D. R. Laughlin of Concordia, wealthy farmer and anti-taxes crusader, is seeking the republican nomination in the fifth against Congressman James G. Strong. B. B. Baugh of Lawrence and B. E. Dyer of Kansas City are opponents in the second district.

MANY CLASSES
IN SEWING ARTGirls of Summer Playgrounds
Being Given Expert
InstructionUseful Articles to Be Made
After Mending and Darning Are Taught

The importance of sewing instruction for young girls of the city playgrounds has assumed a greater prominence this year than ever before. Classes are being held in different schools throughout the city under the supervision of competent instructors and the children are taught the various stitches and methods used in sewing.

The majority of the children have never sewed before and are started in on darning and mending. They bring in their own torn clothing and mend it according to the directions given by the teachers. In this way the children are given practical instruction which may be turned to good use in the home. As they become better skilled, the children make dollies, aprons, bureau scarfs, dresses and pillow cases.

Particular stress has been laid this summer on darning and mending, and the teachers make this the most important phase of the instruction. At the outset, the children are given a small square of cloth, taught how to pull threads and then to darn in with different shades of thread. When they have learned the idea of darning, they are given a piece of a stocking which is fastened to cardboard. The children work on these, darning the black stocking with white thread, and the white stocking with black thread. The opposite colored thread is used so that the work will show up clearly and enable the children to examine their work more closely. When they have completely mastered the work of darning, the children are then allowed to darn their own stockings.

The pupils are taught how to make practical things in the main, such as dresses, bloomers, aprons, cooking aprons with caps to match, underwear and fancy bags, so that they may be able to wear the different things they make. In this way the children are learning an art which will help them enlarge their wardrobes and keep them in wearable condition.

There is a particularly fine sewing class at the Greenhalge school under the supervision of Miss May Sullivan. The work here is all hand sewing and it is done so well that it resembles work done on a machine. The children are first taught the method of procedure by the teacher and then do the work themselves. Every garment is finished perfectly, with hand sewed hems and French seams.

Very few of the girls in this class have sewed before but the progress they are making is remarkable. They have already completed towels with embroidered monograms, petticoats, aprons, fancy bags, caps and dresses. The teacher intends to keep the children on this work for the remainder of the summer so that they will be quite adept in sewing at the end of the playground season.

The following teachers have charge of the sewing classes at the various schools: Butler school, Miss Margaret McGuire; Greenhalge school, Miss May Sullivan; Franklin school, Mrs. Josephine V. Grant; Lakeview avenue school, Miss Lillian Chisholm; Morrell school, Miss Rose Ward; Moody school, Miss Nellie Bourke; Eliot school, Miss Margaret Turgeon; Moroy school, Miss Ellen Mulcahy; Varnum school, Miss Margaret Riley.

WILL SAIL FOR EUROPE

J. Henry Collins to Combine
Business and Pleasure on
Extensive TourMr. J. Henry Collins, president and treasurer of the New England Electric Supply company, 263 Dutton street, left Lowell this afternoon for New York, whence he will sail on the steamer Mesisto on Saturday for Europe. He has planned a tour of the chief battlefields of Europe, particularly those in France, along the Marne and the Meuse, Verdun, Meuse, the Argonne, Chateau-Thierry and many others. He will also visit with special interest the scene of the battles in which his son, Harry C. Collins, served early in the war. Young Collins was among the 25 Americans who were first to join the Foreign Legion in 1911. He was wounded at Verdun and received the French war cross and was also decorated by King Peter of Serbia for bravery in battle on the Bulgarian front.

J. HENRY COLLINS

Mr. Collins will land at Chorbourg and will go direct to Paris from which he will decide upon his itinerary through the more celebrated places in France, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Belgium and Holland. He will visit Brussels and the field of Waterloo, where Napoleon I, was vanquished by the combined powers of Europe. He will finish his tour at Rotterdam in Holland.

Mr. Collins expects to be gone about three months and during his trip, he intends to combine business with pleasure. He will direct special attention to everything in the electric line that is superior to what we have here, so that he can add new features to his already varied stock. He thinks that there may be some things in glassware and in the radio that will catch the European countries' interest.

He will also pay particular attention to the opportunity for introducing American electric specialties in the countries he visits, with a view to establishing an export trade in articles of American manufacture.

Collins being himself a practical electrician, can easily gather important information on these points that will enable him to keep in close touch with all the latest electric appliances used for industrial or domestic purposes.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES

Organization Founded Last Year is Doing Praiseworthy
Work in City

Since its incorporation in January, 1921, the Lowell Goodwill Industries, located in French and Brookings streets, has performed a noble work and one worthy of the highest recognition on the part of the Lowell public. The present establishment is conducted under the able management of A. D. Boeck, assisted by a hustling staff of competent employees, who put in a busy day from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6.30 in the evening, attending to the wants of the poorer people of the city, who, in view of the distressing times, are unable to enjoy the greater luxuries of life.

Every morning the automobile truck of the "industry" tours the city and its suburbs and collects the contributions of clothes, shoes, hats and furniture which have been discarded and generously donated to the Goodwill fund. It is estimated that at the present time there are approximately 8000 bags for future collection in distribution throughout the city.

The "store" and warehouse rooms are well supplied with goods at present, thanks to the generosity of the many supporters of the movement. These goods are on display and for sale and customers often receive valuable wares for an extremely reasonable price. The upper stories of the building contain stocks of wearing apparel of every description, including men's and women's hats, shoes, overcoats, dresses and children's wear. There is also a goodly supply of household furniture on hand to be disposed of at very low prices.

Prospective purchasers need have no fear of contingencies from any of the goods purchased, as every article brought to the establishment is fungible when it is sold to a customer, and if conditions warrant, washed. All necessary mending and repair work is done by employees before the article is offered to the public. While a specialty is made of catering to poorer people, the element of worthy charity is not overlooked.

Those engaged in repair and mending work are ones who are physically incapacitated to some degree and are unable to obtain other means of employment. In this way, many people are given work and a means of livelihood, which they could not otherwise secure.

The industries has its spiritual as well as its material aspect. Every morning, the members hold a 20-minute chapel service at the Central Methodist church in John street. This service is presided over by their own pastor with the exception of Thursday morning when an outside minister conducts the exercises.

The present officers are: Dudley L. Page, president; Judge John J. Pickman, vice president; Miss Emily Skillman, secretary and Henry O. Brooks, treasurer. Rev. L. C. Hocken acts as supervisor and minister, and Mrs. Anna Clift is directly in charge of the store and general repair work.

CALLS MEETING OF
LOCAL RETAILERS

The chamber of commerce has addressed a circular to the various merchants of Lowell requesting their presence at a meeting of retailers to be held in the chamber room, 308 Fairbank building, tomorrow at 10 a.m. All local merchants are urged to attend this meeting regardless of their connection with the chamber of commerce, as membership in this body is not a necessary requisite for being present.

It is expected that much business of importance will be transacted, especially concerning the date of the next co-operative sales event in this city and who shall take charge of the same. Decisions on these questions will be followed by a general discussion of suggestions for improvement, or special features and any other matter properly introduced.

ROMANTIC STORY
OF RUM-RUNNINGLiquor Smugglers Loaded
Cargo in Bermuda Under Direction of GirlMade Runs to Shores of Long Island Sound—Gun Fights
and Seizures

NEW YORK, July 27.—A romantic story of liquor smugglers loading their cargo in Bermuda under direction of a girl and making runs to the shores of Long Island sound, gunfights and seizures by federal agents has been revealed in the arraignment of Mrs. Edith Stevens, 19 years old, in Brooklyn, on an indictment charging conspiracy to smuggle liquor into New York from Bermuda.

She was indicted as an accomplice of Antonio Cassese, wealthy tobacco merchant, who fled when a second indictment charging a plot to smuggle huge quantities of liquor into the country followed seizure of two of his vessels.

Cassese was charged with being the owner of the yacht Edith, captured by government agents here with 1000 cases of liquor aboard last March. At the trial of Captain Charles Oman, of the Edith, he testified that a woman directed the loading of the Edith in Bermuda and accompanied the cargo to New York. He said that Cassese also was aboard. Neither was on the yacht when it was seized. Oman was sent to Atlanta for a year.

The "Ripper" was the second vessel to be captured by the government agents after a voyage to Bermuda when it tried to land a cargo of liquor in New York harbor. The vessel was only taken after a revolver battle with the crew. When Cassese learned of the second seizure, he fled, although out on $5000 bail in the first case.

Mrs. Stevens whose trial begins today, denied she knew anything about the Ripper although she admitted getting on board the Edith and making a trip on the yacht from Bermuda.

CONSTRUCTION OF NEW FIRST STREET ROAD BEGUN

STEAM SHOVEL AND TEAMS AT WORK ON NEW FIRST STREET BOULEVARD

The First street boulevard project is at last under way. Yesterday the Powers Brothers Construction Co. put two crews of men at work excavating in the banks on the street side of the oval. Two large steam shovels, 10 double teams and other equipment necessary for the work were hauled to the site and placed in readiness for the actual work, which started today. In the far corner of the field temporary stables, shacks and tents for the engineers and watchmen have been set up, while a supply station has been established in another section of the field. One big shovel was set up near the bank which runs parallel to First street and after it had been at work for about two hours a large gap had been torn in the side of the bank. The dirt was loaded into waiting teams and carted to the river side where it was dumped down the banking as part of the filling necessary to bring the bank to the level of the rest of the land. The other shovel was placed near the river and was busy in hoisting shovels, it was expected they would be at work some time during the day. An attempt will be made to complete the work in about four months. Engineers from the state department of public works will have direct charge and will supervise the work. It is estimated that the total cost of the road will be in the neighborhood of $100,000. Yesterday about 50 men were at work, but this morning about twice that number reported, although they were not put to work at once, owing to engine trouble with one of the shovels. It was expected they would be at work some time during the day.

On the lower end of First street a crew of men is engaged in laying drain pipes and preparing to pave the street. Yesterday about 50 men were at work, but this morning about twice that number reported, although they were not put to work at once, owing to engine trouble with one of the

At a meeting of the strategy board of the local textile strike committee held at headquarters this morning, it was reported that high school students, both boys and girls are being employed as strikebreakers at the Massachusetts mills. It was announced that during the past few days a number of boys and girls have been seen at work in the cloth room of the plant and it was the sense of the strategy board that an earnest effort should be made to prevent students from interfering in the strikers' fight for a living wage. A resolution denouncing high school students taking the part of strikebreakers was passed at the joint meeting of the Lawrence Textile council and the United Labor Council in Lawrence Thursday night of this week, and the decision was confirmed yesterday morning by the strategy board of the United Textile Workers in that city. Copies of the resolution have been sent to Principal James D. Horne of the Lawrence high school and Superintendent of Schools Bernard M. Sheridan, the school committee and to the city government. That the Tremont & Suffolk, the Boutt and the Appleton Co. will not reduce the wages of their operatives, is the contention of John Hanley, chairman of the local textile strike committee, who claims that he has re-

PRaise FOR PLUCKY MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS

LONDON, July 27.—"Mountaineering proper is not necessarily rashness, but is entirely a question of prudence and of courage, of strength and steadiness, and of a feeling for nature and her most hidden beauties, which hero often awe-inspiring, but for that reason the more sublime, and to a contemplative spirit the more suggestive."

Sir Francis Younghusband, speaking before the Royal Geographical Society on the Mount Everest expedition, used the foregoing words to express the sentiment which has animated all those connected with the expedition, and then said they were written 33 years ago by a certain Father Ratti, who has now become Pope Pius XI.

After describing what the expedition had accomplished Sir Francis said: "The experience gained this year shows that skilled mountaineers are able to take those unskilled in high mountain craft to the highest altitudes. Geoffrey Bruce had never climbed a snow and ice mountain before. Yet under Finch's skilled leadership he was able to attain a height of 27,300 feet. And the Sherpa porters, though they were practically untrained to snow and ice work, were able, under General Bruce's stimulating influence, to carry loads up to 25,500 feet, some of them making the journey four times and so earning the unstinted praise of the best mountaineers."

"By careful organization and combination of effort, using experience to guide inexperience, and by the display of indomitable pluck on the part of the highest climbers, the expedition has at a bound brought the record up from 24,500 feet to 27,300 feet and thus left only 1700 feet to be climbed before the crowning summit is reached."

The standard of human achievement has thereby been sensibly raised. And many another traveler and many another straggler upward in every walk of life and in every country will be braced and heartened in remembering what Finch and Mallory, Somervell, Norton and Bruce have this year accomplished on Mount Everest. And this, to my mind, is incomparably the most valuable result of the expedition, and a result which makes their efforts in the highest degree worth while."

COKE FOR HEATING SOME OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS

In an effort to overcome the present coal shortage situation Purchasing Agent Edward H. Moye has hit upon the plan of using coke to heat several of the school buildings this fall and winter. 200 SAVED FROM DEATH

VARDAMAN IN BITTER REPLY TO WILSON

JACKSON, Miss., July 27.—Aroused by criticism of his candidacy for the United States senate contained in a letter of former President Wilson, former Senator James K. Vardaman issued a 100 word statement today in which he said he did not believe Mississippians need to be told by Mr. Wilson for whom they shall vote.

Mr. Vardaman said Mr. Wilson's opposition is founded upon the fact that "I performed my duties as senator with the intention of pleasing and serving the white people of Mississippi and not to please or satisfy the occupants of the White House."

The gas continued to flow. Bates was overcome and he was rushed to a hospital.

The conductor and brakeman of the freight, who had come back to investigate the cause of the excitement were also affected. And then, before Waite could complete his task, the list of those seriously affected grew.

Edward Cleary, a brakeman wounded, and Joseph Cleary, assistant foreman, Joseph T. Brennan, Daniel Ludden, master mechanic, Joseph Winkie and D. M. Hardy were among the others that were most seriously affected.

Practically all of these men collapsed entirely and the worst affected among them were rushed to the hospital. Dozens of other employees suffered slightly from the fumes and had to go to their homes to recuperate.

Thirty thousand pounds of the deadly liquid, which vaporizes and sends out a death-dealing cloud of fumes as it touches the air, were in tank car beside the mill when the pipe line through which it was being pumped into the mill storage vat was snapped by a freight-switching engine which collided with it. The crew of the freight did not notice the accident and the first known of it was when Waite, seeing the yellow gas arising from about the car, shouted an alarm and fled for his gas mask.

Panic in Shop

A half minute later there was panic in the factory as the deadly fumes, heavier than air, rolled along the floor and workmen after workmen dropped. Waite had secured his mask and donning it as he ran, he raced for the pipe line and hung himself underneath it.

Inside the factory there was panic. Arthur L. Bates, foreman of the yard, shouted to his assistants to warn every employee, and they began pouring from the exits. Most of them were choking as they fled into the air and

Prevented Wholesale Panic

That there was not more of a panic inside the big mill, as the gas began to seep through and the employees to choke and gasp, due to the coolness of the men who were the most affected by the fumes. They bravely stuck to their respective rooms, ordering their subordinates to leave by the nearest exit and guiding them away from the cloud of gas that was seeping through doors and windows, even after they were hastily closed.

Physicians at the hospital tonight said that all of those injured will probably recover, although Waite and Bates and two others were given severe gassing during the affair.

LOWELL GUILD DOING SPLENDID WORK AMONG CHILDREN

Complete Organization of Nurses Brings Valuable Health Hints Into Scores of Homes That Make for Great Conservation of Child Life.

A worth-while work, being developed yearly along lines that reap rich dividends in the conservation of child life, particularly among infants, is being carried on unostentatiously but most effectively by the Lowell Guild. Many people know of the Guild and scores contribute annually to its maintenance, yet its real worth to the community sometimes is lost sight of in the daily routine of city life. It is under the supervision and direction of Miss Mae C. McNevin and her assistant, Miss Blanche C. Harriman, with the help of a staff of nurses.

The Guild also conducts an infantile paralysis clinic at its rooms every Wednesday morning. A doctor and nurse, who are skilled in the treatment of this disease are on duty and give their services.

A report of every call is kept at the office and filed from time to time the nurse makes call to see that recovery is progressing. During the winter months free milk is distributed to the needy families for the young children. At the clinics the mothers are instructed in the methods of prevention to be used in warding off the ailments that the infant children suffer in the winter weather.

The guild has recently acquired an automobile for the nurses and as a result of being able to cover so much more territory, they have taken in the outlying districts of North and South Chelmsford, Chelmsford Center, Brookside, Dracut and Methuen under their supervision.

Many people think that the work done by the guild is carried on entirely among the foreign population of the city but this is not the case.

The calls and treatments given to the people who come under the term "American" form more than one-third of the total number. During the month the nurses made 1241 calls to homes for cases, and 1188 home visits to babies.

The unemployment and scarcity of money in Lowell has greatly increased the amount of work done by the guild.

Due to these conditions there are many more people than usual who are unable to pay doctor bills and they come to the guild for assistance and treatment.

The guild is also treating an increased number of infantile cases, due in many cases to under nourishment and conditions brought about by lack of money.

The guild asks the assistance of the people of Lowell in restocking the "Good Cheer Chest" which is nearly empty. In this closet the nurses keep preserves, canned vegetables and foodstuffs of the sort that bring joy to those who are not so fortunate as to be able to have such things for themselves.

As the canning and preserving season has begun and will continue for some time, the guild sends out an appeal to the people to remember the work they are doing and help them to help others. A response such an appeal will bring satisfaction to the donors of such things in the realization that they are doing a mite in keeping the golden rule.

The guild would also appreciate it if there are any automobile owners who could donate their car, or a part of the car, to carry children to the Boston Children's Hospital for treatment. The mothers of the children have great difficulty in bringing them there as they are unfamiliar with the city.

Job Comes Too Late—Man Ends Life

SALEM, July 27.—Word that he had obtained work, after months of fruitless search, came too late to Alfred Beaucher of Biddeford, Me., today. When Beaucher's landlady went to his room early today to deliver a message from a friend who had obtained him a job, she found him dead on the bed. The gas was turned on and the window had been sealed.

Prussian Papers Must Change Policy

BERLIN, July 27.—Provincial newspapers throughout Prussia, which heretofore have been serving as official organs for local governments, will have to conform in their editorial attitude to the demands of the German republic or forego their revenues from official advertising. A decree to this effect, issued today by the Prussian minister of the interior, affects numerous local newspapers which have been out of sympathy with the republican government.

BUSINESS MAN FOR GOVERNOR OF N. Y.

GIRL FREED OF CHARGE OF KILLING MAN

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 27.—Mildred Brewer, 16 years old, descendant of a distinguished family of Alabama, is today at liberty in the custody of her mother, having been freed at a secret trial yesterday before Judge Lee Holloway, in Juvenile court, of the charge of killing A. Portis McKeithen, the husband of the girl's cousin, Miss Brewer. The mother orders to report with her mother every week to the juvenile court of Montgomery county.

According to information divulged by Temple Selbela, county solicitor, the girl testified at the hearing that McKeithen, whose body was found in an isolated spot in the woods west of Montgomery, last Thursday, was killed by his own revolver. She told of a love affair between herself and McKeithen at whose home she had spent much time.

When they met in the lonely clump of woods where the young man's body was found, she said, he seized her by the waist, drew a revolver and announced he intended to kill her and then end his life. She tried to wrest the pistol from his hand, she testified and in the scuffle the weapon was discharged.

She told the court, according to Solicitor Selbela, that she could not say whether McKeithen or she pulled the trigger.

MANY REFERENDUM PETITIONS FILED

The elections commission yesterday afternoon received 13 referendum petitions seeking to have the operation of an act passed by this year's legislature to enforce the Volstead act suspended. The petitions contained the names of about 500 Lowell voters.

The petitioners seek to have Chapter 421 of the Act of 1922 restrained from being effective until the voters have a chance to express their wishes on the November ballot. The law, if it becomes effective, will be a measure to bring about the strict enforcement of the Volstead act in this state and will give the local state courts the duty of enforcing the law rather than allowing it to be enforced by the federal powers as in the case now.

MISERABLE FOR TWO YEARS

"Fruit-a-lives" Restored Her Strength and Vitality

MOUTONVILLE, CARROLL Co., N. H.—"I was all run down and work was burdensome owing to Indigestion, and gas on my stomach which caused me to belch a good deal. My heart seemed to be affected.

It was two years ago that I was in this condition and began the use of "Fruit-a-lives", which proved the very remedy I required. I was freed of the Indigestion, which I attributed to my heart; and I am conscientiously recommend "Fruit-a-lives" the great fruit medicine".

courageous report that no attempt is being made to work the mines.

Mr. White made a trip to Boston yesterday and reports there is but little coal on hand in that city. All that is coal in the bins has been bought up; also this is all soft coal, as there is no hard coal to be found anywhere.

Fuel Administrator's Report

A report of the Massachusetts fuel administration shows that on July 1 there were 215,301 tons of domestic anthracite coal in Massachusetts bins. Last year the deliveries in this state amounted to 245,000 and a quarter tons. There is yet to be received in the state about four million tons before the situation will be brought up to normal. According to Mr. White it will be impossible to make up this deficiency.

The administration's report says that on July 1st there were only 6749 tons of domestic anthracite coal in Lowell.

Just how much there is at present he did not care to estimate. He pointed out that there were coal tariff clubs which probably had bought up coal so as to fulfill the orders of the club and he said that he imagined that their supply was contained in the above figures.

When asked just what the people said that he himself had bought were going to do for fuel this winter quite a bit of buckwheat and pea coal, enough to carry him up to the first of the year. There seems to be a pretty fair supply of pea coal available and enough heat can be obtained from it, if properly used. While not advising the purchase of pea coal, Mr. White said he had bought it, which seems to be a pretty good indication of the way the wind is blowing.

Mr. White's main reason for not wishing to advance any opinion on the present situation was that he did not know what the government had up its sleeve in the matter. He cited the fact of a Springfield coal authority, who when asked what he thought of the situation, replied, "What's the use of thinking, it won't do any good."

Regarding the soft coal situation Mr. White averred that it was a difficult problem to keep track of. He said that industrial men were buying very little coal and are drawing on their supplies on hand. He claimed that he did not know the reason for this, whether it was on account of the present industrial situation or from some other cause, but the fact remained that the industrial men would not listen to purchase parleys on coal.

John Maloney and Son Save Mrs. Maloney and 11 Children in Brockton Fire

Then Fell Exhausted in Burning House—Rescued by Police

BROCKTON, July 27.—John Maloney, 41 years old, and his eldest son, John, Jr., 23, fought together saving Mrs. Maloney and 11 children from fire and smoke early today, until father and son fell exhausted overcome by smoke in the burning house.

They were rescued by policemen W. S. Wilson and Michael O'Gorman. Mrs. Maloney with the youngest child, a baby of two months in her arms, were the first taken out by the husband. The family escaped only by getting out in their night clothes as soon as they were awakened by the fire that had gained considerable headway. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph P. Wilbur and two children escaped with difficulty from a second tenement. The fire gutted the dwelling.

MRS. REISLER INSISTS SHE KILLED SISTER

NEW YORK, July 27.—A message from her dead father, urging her to "make an end of all this business" prompted Mrs. Minnie Reisler, wife of "John the Barber" Reisler, widely known sporting man, to shoot her sister, Bertha Katz, police quoted her as saying yesterday after she had been locked up, with her two sons and a brother, on homicide charges.

Miss Katz was shot in her home early yesterday. Detectives indicated they believed Mrs. Reisler's statement, although Miss Katz in a deathbed statement told them that Morris Reisler, a son of Mrs. Reisler, fired the shots which killed her. Morris and George Reisler, and Max Katz were held with Mrs. Reisler after an investigation of their stories.

"I did it because my father, who is dead, came to me in a dream and told me to put an end to all this business," police said. Mrs. Reisler told them. "He knew what was going on. In the Jewish religion people believe in these dreams. I was disgusted with myself for waiting. And I am glad I did it."

An all-day search failed to bring "John the Barber," whose alleged love affair with Miss Katz was declared by Mrs. Reisler to have been the cause of the shooting, into the hands of the police. The last time they saw him, they said, was Tuesday night when he went to a Brooklyn police station and asked for protection for the Katz girl. Detectives visited the apartment, but did not remain, and a few hours later the screams of Mrs. Jennie Katz, the girl's mother, told of what had happened.

Mrs. Reisler maintained throughout the day the same attitude of defiance that she had had since early in the morning when she screamed "You Bet" to the dying girl, as the latter accused Morris Reisler of the murder.

"I shot her and I'm glad of it," she told reporters.

"We broke in the door and she came running toward me in her night gown. I yelled and shot. She grabbed me and I fled again. She kept on fighting and I gave her another, because she wasn't dead then. I fled again. Then she dropped."

"I wanted to catch them both. Morris and George and my brother Max were with me because the thought I was going to beat her up. They did not know I had a gun. We found out my husband and Bertha were going to Bertha's apartment Tuesday night and we stood in the rain waiting for them. But when they drove up Bertha and my husband stopped on the gas and I couldn't shoot. Then later on the boys helped me break in the door and I killed Bertha. I am glad of it, too. It's off my mind and I won't have to worry about it any more."

The alleged romance of Miss Katz and Reisler came to light in a court action last year when Mrs. Reisler sued her husband for separation, naming Miss Katz as a "love pirate." Mrs. Reisler charged her husband had neglected her while he浪ished money and attention on her younger sister.

Reisler is known principally for his claims to the management at one time of Jack Dempsey. Dempsey denied Reisler ever married him. Starting 16 years ago as a boxer in a small shop near Herald square, he made money and soon operated a chain of boxer shops in the Times square section.

He went to Tulsa, Okla., where he promoted fights and now owns the largest fight arena in the southwest. He also had large oil interests in that section of the country and was interested in the automobile business.

ROW IN SENATE OVER WOOL CONTINUES

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The row in the senate over the wool schedule of the administration tariff bill passed today into its second phase. By a vote of 38 to 16, the senate late yesterday approved the committee proposal for rate of 20 cents a pound on secured content of wool after rejecting, 38 to 19, a proposal by Senator Wadsworth, republican, New York, to cut the rate to 28 cents, and defeating, 42 to 22, Senator Johnson's plan to limit to 60 per cent ad valorem the rates on coarse wool.

These votes brought the senate to the point of stalemate in its fight. The democrats under the leadership of Senator Walsh of Massachusetts planned to make a strenuous fight against the duties on yarn, clothing, cloth and other woolen goods, but the test votes today had led many senators to the conclusion that about the only changes that would be made in the rates as originally reported would be those proposed by the finance committee majority.

RUM SMUGGLERS AGAIN ACTIVE

Seizure of Three Alleged Rum-Running Boats Near New York Harbor

Officials Believe Boats Came From Some Larger Ship Anchored Off the Coast

NEW YORK, July 27.—Seizure of three alleged rum-running boats over night was declared by federal prohibition agents today to indicate the resumption of activity by liquor smugglers who have been uncommonly quiet for several weeks.

The three boats were seized near this harbor, and officials believe they came from some larger ship anchored several miles off the coast.

The first seizure was reported by the harbor police that of the auxiliary sloop "K-10 705" which was taken in the Narrows. They found George W. Haines and his brother Edward, both of Jersey City, aboard the boat with 250 cases of liquor, they claim. The second ship was taken by coast guards, who had gone to her aid when she grounded on a sandbar off Point O'Woods, L. I. They said they found the vessel to be sloop "U.H.P." carrying 1200 cases of liquor worth $50,000.

The radio reported the third seizure. The "dry navy" chase Hansen, which went out last Tuesday, reported she had picked up sloop "Marion Maher" three miles from Fire Island and that the boat was headed for New York with a cargo of liquor so heavy that the water was washing over her gunwales.

GIRL HELD FOR MURDER

Dallas, Tex., Woman Charged With Killing New Haven Man at Cleveland

CLEVELAND, July 27.—Mabel C. Chapman, 22, of Dallas, Tex., today was charged by the police with the murder of Thomas F. O'Connell of New Haven, Conn., who was shot to death during a quarrel in downtown restaurant yesterday.

Her husband, A. F. Chapman, who was taken into custody with the woman, is being held as a witness. When first arrested, he said he was Clifford Barnett of Kansas City, Kan., and was registered at a hotel under this name. At that time he denied the woman was his wife.

Police say the woman is wanted in Indianapolis, where it is alleged she jumped bail bond after having been arrested on a charge of picketing rockets.

O'Connell, first thought to be Edward O'Connell of Cambridge, Mass., was identified by his wife. Mrs. O'Connell said she and her husband had been spending vacation at Geneva-on-the-Lake, 50 miles east of here.

Mrs. Reisler maintained throughout the day the same attitude of defiance that she had had since early in the morning when she screamed "You Bet" to the dying girl, as the latter accused Morris Reisler of the murder.

"I shot her and I'm glad of it," she told reporters.

EXPORTATION OF COAL

Question of Whether British Miners Will Take Any Action Comes Up

London, July 27.—The question whether British coal miners will take any action against the exportation of coal to America was expected to be discussed at a meeting today of the executive committee of the Miners' Federation. Meanwhile, reports from British coal fields indicate that nothing will be done by the miners, who after a long period in their industry, are appreciating the stimulus given to employment through the American demand.

The Scottish coal field has advanced prices sharply since America entered the market, while freight rates also have risen and tonnage has become scarce.

"The greatest effect of the American demand, however, has been produced in the South Wales fields, where cheerfulness has succeeded a long period of depression.

American agents snatched up all the coal available in the Cardiff market at the low price ruling last week, and engorged tonnage at low rates. Their inquisition for further orders continue and it is said there will be sufficient American orders to absorb all that the collieries can produce to the end of August. The exact amount of the orders is unknown.

These votes brought the senate to the point of stalemate in its fight. The democrats under the leadership of Senator Walsh of Massachusetts planned to make a strenuous fight against the duties on yarn, clothing, cloth and other woolen goods, but the test votes today had led many senators to the conclusion that about the only changes that would be made in the rates as originally reported would be those proposed by the finance committee majority.

NEW SUMMER WHITE HOUSE AND GROUNDS

Here are three views of the "summer White House"—and you can bet it has a golf course attached. Edward McLean, Washington, D. C., publisher, recently offered the place, which is his country home, to the president for the summer, and the president accepted. It is only a short distance from the capital. Pictures show a general view (upper); the lawn and fountain, with the house in the background (lower right); and the entrance to the estate (lower left.)

IMPROVEMENT IN COAL SITUATION

Favorable Reaction to Government's Efforts to Stimulate Coal Production

13,083 Cars Loaded Monday as Compared With 9860 on Saturday

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Favorable reaction to the government's effort to stimulate coal production despite the miners' strike, was seen today in figures assembled by the railroads showing that 13,083 cars of coal was loaded on Monday at operating mines as compared with 9860 cars last Saturday and with a daily average of 10,014 cars during the six working days previous to Saturday.

OPPOSES MORE POLICE

Mayor Curley Replies to Police Commissioner's Request for 100 Extra Men

BOSTON, July 27.—Mayor Curley, replying to the suggestion of Police Commissioner Herbert Wilson that 100 patrolmen be added to the Boston department, said that in his opinion the present force was adequate.

Commissioner Wilson, in a letter to the mayor, enumerated industrial troubles, the number of holdups and larceny, store robberies, and traffic congestion as among the reasons for suggesting more police. Mayor Curley declared that the present Boston force was "25 per cent larger in proportion to the population than New York."

NEED MORE MONEY FOR GOLD STAR MEDALS

The sum of $2000, voted by the city council, to be expended for the purchase of approximately 150 gold star medals to be given to the mothers of those boys who were killed during the late war, will not be enough by $1000 to fulfill the contract if the medals are to be purchased according to the selection made yesterday by Col. Stevens. An additional appropriation of $100 will be necessary to carry out Col. Stevens' selection as an estimate of the total cost brings the figure up to about $3000.

SURVIVORS OF SHIP WRECK ARRIVE

BOSTON, July 27.—Three men who were aboard the bulk of the frigate Granite State, which burned and sank off the north shore yesterday while being towed to Bayside, Me., said upon their arrival here today that they had no knowledge of the ship's origin.

Joseph Mulholland, son of the owner of the bulk, and Nat Aronson, two of those aboard, took to the small boat and reached the tug, George Pleska, was later taken off by the tug.

STUCK BY MACHINE

Kenneth Humphreys, age 14 years and residing at 259 Merrimack street, was slightly injured late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile at the junction of Church and Central Streets. Mrs. Elizabeth M. McDermott of 105 Chestnut, driver of the car, claims that the little fellow ran from the sidewalk into the street in machine. She offered to take him to the hospital, but he refused to go on the ground that his injuries were slight.

Police Will Lead

The reason ascribed for the short comings of the police in the neighborhood town is that their services are not required as everything is going along peacefully in Bitterfield.

The state police, 12 in number, came to Bitterfield a week ago last Saturday by order of the state commissioner of public safety, and pitched their tents on a tract of land owned by the Kearney estate and situated about a half-mile from the caravans along the railroad tracks. Since their advent in the town the men have gone on long walks through the various sections of the district and have partaken of their meals and slept in the tents pitched for their comfort. They have found that the residents of Bitterfield as well as the strikers from the shops, who are doing picket duty are law-abiding citizens.

Mr. Guyler indicated that he would return to the White House for another conference after the president had discussed the situation with the strike leaders.

900 SHOE WORKERS STRIKE IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, July 27.—Approximately 900 employees of J. H. Winchell & Co., makers of men's and women's well shoes, struck today in protest of the recent decision of the state board of arbitration providing for a wage cut ranging from 6 to 9 per cent.

The recent reduction is the second made by the state board in this plant within a year, the first of 6 per cent, being in September, 1921. The workers are represented by the Boot & Shoe Workers' Union. Local officers of the union state that although their contract provides that the union abide by the state board's decision, this recent decision is not based on comparative and competitive evidence and they have petitioned for a reopening of the case.

This is the first time trouble has developed in this city as a result of a decision by the state board. The Winchell firm has been putting out 300 pairs of shoes daily and are preparing to increase to capacity.

Students as Strikebreakers

Received this information from a reliable source. These three mills are the only local cotton mills that have not announced wage reductions this year.

It will be remembered that along in February the Hamilton Mfg. Co. and the Bay State Cotton Corp. announced wage reductions amounting to 20 per cent and the result was a strike in both mills on the contention that the cut was altogether too great. Some three weeks ago the Merrimack Mfg. Co. announced a wage reduction and this was followed a week later by similar announcements at the plants of the Massachusetts and the Lawrence Mfg. Co. Strikers followed at both the Merrimack and Massachusetts plants, but the operators of the factory accepted the cut as they were not seeking to destroy seniority rights of men or strike, but to make their seniority subordinate to that of men now at work.

In his statement, President Harding again pointed to the Railroad Labor board as the agency through which the differences of strikers and railroads would be finally adjusted. He indicated that he would ask the board to grant the shopmen a rehearing although he said the decisions of the railroad labor board are in compliance with the mandate of the law-making body of the United States.

Government and local officials in various cities were prepared today to mobilize resources at their command in response to the Interstate Commerce commission's orders concerning transportation of fuel and foodstuffs

Minor Disorders Reported
Minor developments included disorders at widely scattered points, a walkout of three hundred shopmen of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad not hitherto affected by the strike, several arrests on varying charges, issuance of an injunction or two, and service of eviction notices on former employees occupying railway company dwellings at Casper, Wyo.

Thirty-four men formerly employed in the shop of the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad at Derby, Me., were allowed two weeks in which to vacate houses owned by a subsidiary company.

The mass meeting held on the North common last evening was largely attended. John Hanley presided and the principal speaker was a former newspaperman, who addressed the gathering in the Greek language.

NO CHANGE IN PRICE OF MILK

BOSTON, July 27. The milk price for August will remain the same to Boston dealers as in July, 75 cents per quart delivered here, by action of the sales committee of the New England Milk Producers' Association, today. It was announced that this offering had been accepted by the principal dealers.

In New York and Connecticut both of which draw some milk from the New England Milk Producers' Association territory, the price went up one cent for August. Under orders of District Attorney Thomas G. O'Brien, a public accountant, is looking over the books of the association, but officials said the inspection had nothing to do with the decision to keep the price here unchanged.

HASTEN CROP GROWTH BATTERY ADJUSTMENT BY POTENTIOMETER

Radio Waves Cause Vegetation to Reach Maturity More Rapidly

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Radio is speeding the growth of crops!

This remarkable discovery has been made by government agricultural experts here. They have been conducting experiments and observations on farms near high-powered radio stations where they report more rapid growth of soil products than ordinarily.

Radio has been known to be an indispensable aid to farmers in the broadcasting of special agricultural information and remains another market and atmospheric conditions. But not until the present revelations were made has radio been known to be of direct help to the farmer in the production of his crops.

The government experts studying this phenomenon have discovered that the high-frequency waves from the broadcasting stations nearby have caused vegetation to take on a larger growth and reach its maturity much sooner than under ordinary conditions.

Proceeding on this discovery, scientists have established an experiment station at Honolulu, where they are concentrating their attention on the production of crops through the aid of wireless waves.

ST. ANNE'S SCOUTS

IN SUMMER CAMP

The Long-Sought-For pond camp of St. Anne's Boy Scouts, Troop 10, was opened last Saturday, and is in charge of Scoutmaster H. J. Johnson and his assistants. A wireless apparatus has been installed, and through operator John Lambert, Jr., news is received from many broadcasting stations. Twenty-four scouts were present on the opening day and on Sunday the first dip in the pond was taken, followed by boating, canoeing and sports. The scouts have received a challenge from the Y. M. C. A. boys at Camp Nohmasset in a baseball game. The challenge has been accepted. Parents and friends of the boys are invited to visit the camp.

RADIO PHIMIC

Copper-advance—Trade name for an alloy of copper and nickel, a material that is widely used for resistance coils and rheostats. Its resistivity is high and its temperature coefficient is practically negligible.

Bullets have been known to carry a charge for testing gold and silver articles.

BY PAUL F. GODEY

America's Foremost Radio Authority

To all those who are using vacuum tubes in their radio work, the use of the rheostat for adjustment of filament currents is well known. But there seem to be many who do not understand or appreciate the utility of the device which is known as the "A" battery potentiometer for adjustment of the "B" battery.

For this work potentiometers of various types have been tried.

In the main they have consisted of a high-resistance unit, which was

"A" battery, the potential of the "A" battery is opposed to that of the "B" with a corresponding reduction of the total potential in the plate circuit.

Condenser

The capacity, C, connected as shown, is essential for proper operation. Lacking it, there will be considerable resistance offered to the high-frequency currents which flow in the plate circuit. This value need not be greater than 0.006 MF, although a much larger condenser may be used.

For the operation of the sensitive "gas" tubes usually used for detector purposes, the potentiometer is of great value.

9 P. M.—Ring by blow description from the "A" battery voltage.

The "A" battery potentiometer is connected directly across the "A" or filament lighting battery. This battery is usually six volts. If the resistance of the potentiometer unit is 300 ohms or more, the amount of current flowing through it is entirely negligible. It would require many weeks to completely discharge a storage battery through such a resistance.

But the effect of the potentiometer as connected in the accompanying circuit is all that can be desired.

It enables the addition to, or the subtraction from, the "B" battery of the "A" battery voltage.

For example, when the potentiometer slider is at the extreme right, the circuit from the plate through the telephone to the filament includes the full 22½-volt battery and the full six-volt battery. When the contact of the potentiometer is slid to the extreme left on the negative terminal of the

ALL GONE FEELING

It is astonishing what immediate relief can be obtained by those who are debilitated, run down, without strength or ambition, by building up the blood. The nerves are quieted, the digestion toned up and new health and vigor imparted by the rich red blood, that courses through the body.

Mrs. Margaret Cosgrave, of No. 19 Lowell street, Lewiston, Me., attributes her trouble to thin blood. She says:

"For a year I was in broken health and should have been in bed most of the time. I had an all gone feeling and my blood was very poor. I had no appetite for anything and could not sleep. Sometimes I would go to sleep and I would stagger on the street. I was so nervous the least noise would make me jump. My back was so lame that I could not stand over. Going upstairs would cause my heart to palpitate. Medical treatment that I took did me no good.

"Finally I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began to feel better in a few days after I began the treatment with them. I am much stronger now and my blood is richer. My appetite is good and I have no more nervousness, indigestion or dizzy spells. I sleep well and feel better than I have in years. I can truthfully say that I never got any real benefit until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by

INMATE RUNS AMUCK, ANOTHER BOY LOSES LIFE SHOOTS TWO WOMEN

IN CLAY PIT

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—Suddenly becoming insane, William Smith, an inmate of the Presbyterian Home for the Aged Couples and Single Men yesterday shot two women, one of them being Mrs. Lillian Pierce, superintendent of the institution. He then fled to his room and took his own life by slashing his throat with a razor and firing a bullet into his head.

Mrs. Pierce had just bowed her head to say grace at the noon meal, with the 120 inmates, most of them women, assembled in the dining room, when Smith appeared in the doorway brandishing a revolver. With a loud yell he began shooting. Mrs. Pierce fell to the floor with a bullet wound in her neck. Her assistant, Miss Elizabeth Wise, was struck in the right arm. The aged and feeble men and women, stricken with terror, fled from the room as best they could. Smith fired three more shots, none of which took effect.

Shouting, "I'll kill anyone who comes near me," Smith made his way to the third floor. Some one entered Smith's room just in time to see the man shoot himself. Despite the two wounds he struggled with the officer several minutes before he fell.

The condition of neither of the injured women is serious.

THE ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

Keen interest is taken in the anti-lynching bill now pending before Congress and regarded as the first step toward grappling with the national ignominy cast upon this nation by the frequent lynchings in the southern states.

It has required a great deal of study and research by legal experts to frame a measure to prevent lynching that would stand the test of constitutionality.

Moorefield Storey, Herbert K. Stachow, and other authorities have submitted strong legal arguments in favor of the bill and in addition it has been declared constitutional by the judiciary committees of the house and senate respectively. Short of the decision of the supreme court, there can be no higher guarantee of any bill's constitutionality.

In dealing with a matter of this kind, the federal government must guard against any unwarranted interference with the rights of the states, for despite the culpability of the southern states, they would promptly protest against any interference with their prerogatives that could not be backed up by the highest legal authority.

There can be no question as to the necessity of such a law as the bill would provide, for the reason that there is no attempt made to punish any of the lynching mobs in the southern states. Since 1889 there were 3,467 lynchings in the United States, of which 65 were of women. During 1921, sixty-four persons were done to death by mobs and in 1922 there have already been thirty lynchings, six of the victims having been burned at the stake.

In many cases of lynching, as might be expected, the victims are innocent and in others the crime charged against the accused is of trivial character, but is magnified so as to offer some form of mitigation for the vengeance of the mob in the public eye. The Dyer bill provides that the trial of lynchers shall be conducted in federal courts in every case in which the state courts have allowed thirty days to elapse without taking any action to secure conviction of the guilty parties. Of course every trial must be preceded by the apprehension of the accused and this would also fail to the lot of the federal officials.

The second feature of the bill provides that a fine of $10,000 shall be placed on the county in which the lynching occurs, and an equal amount on the county in which the mob seized the victim. If other than the one in which the lynching occurred, this would probably be the chief deterrent, as it would require a great many convictions to instill a fear of detection into the minds of the people, as long have they been accustomed to connivance by the state authorities. And it is a very difficult thing to secure evidence sufficient to convict in lynching cases.

Legally the Dyer bill rests solely on a clause of Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution, which reads: "Nor shall any state deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." It is because the southern states have outrageously neglected to enforce that provision that the Dyer bill is necessary. It should be enacted and promptly applied.

THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

There are many things ahead of President Harding's ship-subsidy bill to which he has pledged himself irreversibly, indicating that it must be passed at the present session on possibility of having Congress reconvene for that purpose. Recently Senator Fletcher ascribed the failure of the nation's merchant fleet to operate successfully to Chairman Lasker of the shipping board, who, he said, had changed the board into a political machine and spent his time sending out political propaganda instead of attending to the legitimate business of the board.

MT. HOLYOKE HUSBAND

Senator Fletcher asserts that the ship-subsidy bill would present to the private ship owners a subsidy of $50,000,000 a year. It is no wonder he states that the private ship owners are flooding the country with propaganda in favor of the proposition. Part of the campaign in support of the bill consists in an effort to discredit the merchant marine as established under the Wilson administration and for this purpose the ships are described by Chairman Lasker as "a costly heritage."

It should be plain that the first necessary element of a merchant marine is a grand fleet of ships such as that which was constructed under the democratic administration and turned over to the republican party. It is largely lack of proper business direction that holds the ships idle in port, and it is doubtful whether the subsidy to be offered under the proposed bill would establish the merchant marine on a permanent and paying basis.

Nevertheless, President Harding is anxious to make the venture and upon him and his party will rest the responsibility. We have the ships and the men to handle them and all that is needed is proper direction and a policy that will secure the necessary trade to keep them busy. That problem should not be beyond the accomplishment of the republican leaders even though they have shown gross incapacity in other directions.

It should be understood that regardless of mismanagement either by this administration or its predecessor, we want to hold the merchant marine and to keep it actively engaged. If this cannot be done without a bonus, then let the bonus be authorized with further delay.

The proposed tariff on wool will prove as great a bugaboo to the republican party as the bonus on which it is hopelessly divided.

If our city officials lived up to the present charter, there would be slight sentiment in favor of a change.

SEEN AND HEARD

Looks as if Bergeson might be drawn in to complete the triangle of Blazon, Achleitner and Bergeson.

Our next door neighbor scolded us with this question today: "What does a golfer do for recreation?"

Did you ever see a day in July that had more gloominess of fall than yesterday? cold, dreary, and austere, and a few more equally as undesirable.

The first sign that bobbed hair is going out of style is an informal report from barber shops that business in the "bobbed" line is falling off. So was the hair!

Speaking of golfers: One who was sentenced to prison when asked by the nose-puller if he had anything to say, made this request: "Couldn't we take a couple of practice swings first?"

Will Hays could help the movies by passing a law which would make it a crime for a person to read subtitles out loud to a companion. Let's take it for granted the companion can read, too.

A Thought

Who art thou that judgest another man's servant? To his own Master he standeth not in the judgment of fallen. —Romans 14:4.

Judges sometimes are more plausible, more reverent than plausible, more advised than confident. Above all things, integrity is their portion and proper virtue.—Francis Bacon.

Where Does It Live?

A sage has told us if a man devise a better mousetrap, was made before in the woods remote his dwelling lies. The world will wear a pathway to his door. —New York Herald.

Meet the Family

A kindly old lady stopped over a reclining beggar and produced a penny. The beggar eyed it disdainfully.

"Ma'am," he began, "did you read in the paper about de beggar dat diago and left a million dollars to a lady dat give him a quarter?"

She seemed to remember something of the sort, smiling at the old lady. "Well, dat guy was me brother. Dava de kind of a family we are."

Perhaps It Was True

The Presque Isle, Mo., Star-Herald devoted half a column of its editorial page to apologizing for a typographical error which substituted "J" for "T" in an item regarding the Ford Field's Fourth of July celebration. The item read: "The stores and private dwellings were heavily decorated with bunting and presented a pleasing sight. Firecrackers were fired in all directions by the coming young Americans, balloons and flags were carried by others."

Doubt

Faith lifts its head above its dead And still believes when life is fled.

Doubt turns aside when one has died. It's very doubt unsatisfied.

Men die; what then? The verdant ten Turns wintry white, yet blooms again.

May it not be again that he Shall blossom in eternity?

Yea, in this hour so dark and doon Faith out of doubt begins to bower—

When death has trod down the sod Doubt reaches for the hand of God.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Along with their multifarious duties Lowell's traffic officers find time to aid and assist good people across the paths of heavy traffic and vehicles. I watched Traffic Officer "Jack" McNulty in the square, gallantly escorting an aged man and a crippled lady the other day, and heard many compliments on such thoughtful acts.

It might be said in passing that Lowell's traffic squad compares with the best in this section of the country; a fine set of flag-looking men, even tempered, but firm in the upholding of the regulations. Superintendent Atkinson and Traffic Supervisor Cognors ought to be proud of them for, in action, the sizzling heat or the storms of winter seem to bother them not at all.

Mr. John J. Healey, who conducts the clothing establishment of Mitchell, The Tailor, is loud in his praise of the city of Washington, which he visited on his recent trip to the Biltmore convention in company with Mrs. Healey. He states that the cost of merchandise of various kinds in Washington is not nearly as high as it is in Lowell. This is particularly true of food. The hotel rates in Washington are also very reasonable, probably not more than would be charged in the hotels of Massachusetts cities such as Lowell and Worcester. Of course there may be one or two exceptions that did not come to his notice. Mr. Healey was deeply impressed with the beauty, the cleanliness, the quietude and the democratic spirit of the city of Washington. In Atlantic City, he says, things are very much different in regard to prices. As to hotel rates he allows that only the wealthy can afford to stop there if they put up at the leading hotels and eat for the best service in the dining rooms, the public conveyances and leading places of amusement. Evidently Mr. and Mrs. Healey had a delightful trip, but although they visited Baltimore, Atlantic City, Philadelphia and New York, they were more deeply impressed with Washington than any other city they had seen.

Blistered Silk Is Gaining As Fall Approaches

Perhaps it is to keep up with the popular blistered skins this summer that the new silks carry out the summer idea. At any rate, blistered silks are very fashionable and are expected to be even more in evidence in the fall.

Blouses are shown of these bizarre fabrics in Casque models with long sleeves that fit closely around the wrist or are loose and lilly.

Gay colored silks in Persian Paisley patterns are also on the fall call of autumn models and the bolded blouse of chiffon shows no lessening of popularity.

Georgette blouses are shown with insets of wool lace that have the effect of embroidery. Brown is the dominant color, often with undertones of green.

SWORDFISHERMAN BELIEVED LOST

Gloucester, July 27.—While the relatives of the men aboard the swordfisherman Melita Eues are loth to give up hope that the little boat will return to port, fishermen here are convinced that there is no chance of her returning.

She sailed from here five weeks ago for Georges Bank fitted at the ultimate for three weeks, carrying but little tons of ice to preserve the catch. The auxiliary fishing schooner has not since been heard from and her owners think that she may have been sunk by some liner. Several weeks ago rumors from an indefinite source were circulated that she had been sunk in collision and that her gasoline tank had exploded and destroyed craft and crew. Neither could be verified.

Wreckage was brought to Boston Monday by the schooner Eliza Benner, consisting of the white wreckage of a dish closet, apparently from same fishing craft which had met disaster.

Two weeks ago Capt. Patrick Murphy

of the schooner Wesley W. Sonnett

picked up a body boating on Georges which answered the description of John

Blondin of 157 West 7th street, South

Boston, a member of the crew of the missing Eues. The body was given a sea burial. Last Saturday a boat arived at Portland and reported finding the body of a man floating on Georges, which was also buried at sea. Fishermen here associate these incidents with the loss of the Eues.

As far as known the crew list is as follows: Leo Joyce, master, 31, of 131

East Main street; John P. Powers, 36,

21 Church street; John Tuddy, Pine street, cook; Walter McKay and John

The Eues was built in this city in 1903 and measured 16 tons gross. 8 and 5.6 depth. She was fitted by the

and was owned by the Interstate Fish

She was valued at $2500 and was unin-

her provisions and supplies would have

GERMAN SAILORS ON BRITISH SHIPS

BERLIN, July 27.—Shipping circles here note with satisfaction that German sailors are again in demand for the personnel of ships sailing under foreign flags.

The most recent instance cited is that of a modernly equipped salvage vessel which an English company has sent to the Baltic sea to stand ready for assistance in all cases of distress. It is said here that, although the ship's captain is English, as is also its flag, the crew consists of 26 Germans hailing from Danzig.

MURDERED BY CRANK

Village Blacksmith Victim of John Schaefer's Axe—Later Averred to Whistling

HARLAN, Ia., July 27.—John Schaefer, 70 whose aversion to whistling first gained him the name of "crank" then sent him trudging moodily about carrying an axe as a threat against whistlers and finally landed him in a cell charged with murder, was transferred to a secret hiding place today by Sheriff Hansen for protection.

Schaefer carried his axe around the streets of Panama for years without raising it as a threat until last Friday when it brought a whistler to death. The victim was the village blacksmith, John M. Herts, 50.

Herts who was a notoriously cheerful whistler stood in front of the shack that housed his forge and watched Schaefer storm in some whistling boys. The boys fled and Herts shouted: "Come on over John, and whistle for me."

Herts was struck down and died in a hospital Saturday night.

PALMER ENDORSES THE UNDERWOOD BILL

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The Underwood bill to create an American commission to adjudicate American war claims against Germany and Austria and to pay such claims out of seized enemy alien property, was endorsed by A. Mitchell Palmer, former attorney general and alien property custodian, today before a senate judiciary sub-committee.

Chairman Cummins of sub-committee announced in opening the hearings, that they would be limited to the two propositions in the Underwood bill: creation of a claims commission and disposition of seized enemy property.

The present administration course of negotiating a claims treaty with Germany, to set up a joint claims commission, was attacked by Mr. Palmer. Under the Versailles treaty, he said, German property seized in this country was, in effect, requisitioned, not by the American government but by the German government as a placate for payment of American claims.

The German government agreed, he explained, that German subjects whose property was used to pay American claims would have a claim against the German government and not against the American government. This he insisted upset the contention that the American government was confiscating individual property of aliens.

JUDGE CLAIMS USE OF ROD NECESSARY

SPRINGFIELD, July 27.—"Most of us are better men and women, and I wish to include myself, because our parents believed in the sage advice of Solomon, 'Spare the rod and spoil the child,'" said Judge Charles L. Long in Probate Court in giving the guardianship of Yole (Yononi), a 12-year-old orphan girl, to William Sussinetti, the child's uncle by marriage.

The girl tearfully protested, claiming harsh treatment at the hands of Mrs. Sussinetti. In meting out punishment for misbehavior, "I can remember," said the judge, "that when my parents applied the hair brush or iron a supple weapon to me, I thought they were cruel tyrants, but I know now that I owe all of my success to them. And I am sure this little girl will later grow to appreciate what she now considers tyranny."

REFUSE TO COMMENT ON MORSE RULING

PORLTAND, Me., July 27.—Federal Judge Clarence Hale and Arthur S. Littlefield, one of the counsel for Charles W. Morse and Rupert M. Much, declined to comment today on the announcement in Washington that the department of Justice would not recognize the agreement by which they shall not be required to appear in New York or Washington for trial on criminal indictments until after civil suits for $21,000,000 in Virginia by Morse and his associates have been determined.

It was understood, however, that their attorneys consider that the agreement was made in good faith and ought to be kept by both sides. The stipulations were dictated by Judge Hale after they had been agreed upon and he affixed his signature to each set of papers prepared and signed by counsel.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 27.—An irregular tone marked the opening of the stock market today. Studebaker, which rose 1 1/2 points in the early trading on reports of increased earnings, and the possibility of higher dividends, disturbed the market. Features, Halls, such as Northern Pacific, New York Central, New Haven and Canadian Pacific made large fractional gains. U. S. Steel, which advanced half a point, apparently did not reflect the favorable tone of weekly steel reviews indicating a possible fuel crisis in that industry as a result of rail priority orders.

Mexican Seaboard opened higher and then reacted to the reports showing a 1 1/2% gain on the certificates of Mexican Petroleo and California Petroleum registered declines of about a point, while Pacific and Pan-American Oils were fractionally higher. Independent oil companies, particularly oil dealers, all but further gains were the prominent features of the final hour. Extreme gains of 1 1/2 to 7 1/2 points were shown by those shares. The closing was strong.

MANY CLASSES
IN SEWING ART

Girls of Summer Playgrounds
Being Given Expert
Instruction

Useful Articles to Be Made
After Mending and Darning Are Taught

The importance of sewing instruction for young girls of the city playgrounds has assumed a greater prominence this year than ever before. Classes are being held in different schools throughout the city under the supervision of competent instructors and the children are taught the various stitches and methods used in sewing.

The majority of the children have never sewed before and are started in on darning and mending. They bring in their own torn clothing and mend it according to the directions given by the teachers. In this way the children are given practical instruction which may be turned to good use in the home. As they become better skilled, the children make dollies, aprons, bustiers, cards, dresses and pillow cases.

Particular stress has been laid this summer on darning and mending and the teachers make this the most important phase of the instruction. At the outside the children are given a small square of cloth, taught how to pull threads and then to darn in with different shades of thread. When they have learned the idea of darning, they are given a piece of a stocking which is fastened to cardboard. The children work on these, darning the black stocking with white thread, and the white stocking with black thread. The opposite colored thread is used so that the work will show up clearer and enable the children to examine their work more closely. When they have completely mastered the work of darning, the children are then allowed to darn their own stockings.

The pupils are taught how to make practical things in the main, such as dresses, bloomers, aprons, cooking aprons with caps to match, under-wear and fund bags, so that they may be able to wear the different things they make. In this way the children are learning an art which will help them enlarge their wardrobes and keep them in wearable condition.

There is a particularly fine sewing class at the Greenhaze school under the supervision of Miss May Sullivan. The work here is hand sewing and it is done so well that it resembles work done on a machine. The children are first taught the method of procedure by the teacher and then do the work themselves. Every garment is finished perfectly, with hand sewed hems and French seams.

Very few of the girls in this class have sewed before but the progress they are making is remarkable. They have already completed towels with embroidered monograms, picture aprons, fancy bags, caps and dresses. The teacher intends to keep the children on this work for the remainder of the summer so that they will be quite adept in sewing at the end of the playground season.

The following teachers have charge of the sewing classes at the various schools: Butler school, Miss Margaret McGuire; Greenhaze school, Miss May Sullivan; Franklin school, Mrs. Josephine Y. Grant; Lakeview avenue, Miss Alice Lillian Chisholm; Marlboro school, Miss Rose Ward; Moody school, Miss Nellie Reurke; Elliot school, Miss Margaret Turgeon; Moray school, Miss Ella Mulcahy; Vernon school, Miss Margaret Riley.

LOWELL GIRLS
PULLED FROM SURF

Misses Grace Kelleher and Anna Leary of this city, who are spending their vacation at York Beach, Me., were caught in the surf at the beach on Tuesday, but were rescued by Joe Ryan, one of the lifeguards.

WILL SAIL FOR EUROPE

J. Henry Collins to Combine
Business and Pleasure on
Extensive Tour

Mr. J. Henry Collins, president and treasurer of the New England Electric
Supply Company, 263 Dutton street, left Lowell this afternoon for New York,
whence he will sail on the steamer Majestic on Saturday for Europe. He has planned a tour of the chief battlefields of Europe, particularly those in France, along the Marne and the Meuse with Verdun, Mons, the Argonne, Chateau-Thierry and many others. He will also visit with special interest the scene of the battles in which his son, Harry C. Collins, served early in the war. Young Collins was among the 25

J. HENRY COLLINS

Americans who were first to join the French Legion in 1914. He was wounded at Verdun and received the French war cross and was also decorated by King Peter of Serbia for bravery in battle on the Bulgarian front.

Mr. Collins will land at Cherbourg and will go direct to Paris from which he will decide upon his itinerary through the more celebrated places in France, Switzerland, Austria, Germany,
Belgium and Holland. He will visit
Brussels and the field of Waterloo, where Napoleon I. was vanquished by the combined powers of Europe. He will finish his tour at Rotterdam in Holland.

Mr. Collins expects to be gone about three months and during his trip he intends to combine business with pleasure. He will direct special attention to everything in the electric field that is superior to what we have here in order that he can add new features to his already varied stock. He thinks that there may be some things in glassware

and in the radio field in which the European countries are ahead of us. He will also pay particular attention to the opportunities for introducing American electric specialties in the countries he visits, with a view to establishing an export trade in articles of American manufacture.

Mr. Collins being himself a practical electrician, can easily gather important information on these points that will enable him to keep in close touch with all the latest electric appliances used for industrial or domestic purposes.
